ACCIDENTAL BLAST DESTROYS CRAFT ON ST. LAWRENCE

Explosives Detonated as Crew Is Placing Them in Drilling Machinery While Working Near Alexandria Bay, N. Y.

DIVERS RECOVER BODIES OF TWO

Tragedy Occurs About 10 Miles From Scene of Similar Disaster Which Killed 31 in 1930.

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N. Y., July 19.—(AP)—Seven men were believed killed and nine were injured late today when a dynamite explosion on the drill boat America blew the boat to bits and shook the St. Lawrence valley for miles around.

A ton and a half of dynamite which had just been packed in a drill hole on the rocky bottom of the St. Lawrence river exploded prematurely, hurling men, machinery and splintered remains of the 150-foot drill boat high into the air.

When the smoke and flying wreckage cleared, the America had disappeared. Only floating timbers and planks appeared. Upon these a handful of survivors dragged themselves.

Two mangled bodies were taken tonight from the bottom of the river by a diver working with powerful electric lamps. One was identified as that of Ivan Rush, 32, boss driller, believed to have been from LaSalle, Ill.

The other body was believed to be that of Joe Slusarick, 24, a "dynamite man," also from LaSalle. The diver went back to find five other bodies believed lying at the river bottom.

Rush was in charge of drilling operations when the under-water explosion occurred. He appeared to have been instantly killed in the upheaval.

Other dynamite on the America was believed to have exploded, adding to the terrific blast.

Ploughing upstream through the floating debris came an oil tanker on its way to the Great Lakes. She threw life preservers overboard, witnesses said, then proceeded on her way, leaving the work of rescue to a fleet of motorboats which scurried out from among the Thousand Islands of the St. Lawrence.

Sixteen men were at the scene of drilling operations in the American channel, about two miles from the American shore at Chippewa Bay, when the explosion occurred. Chippewa Bay is about six miles from Alexandria Bay.

Others besides Rush and Slusarick, for whose bodies a diver was searching as darkness fell tonight, were:

Arnold Freeman, 25, Alexandria Bay, driller; Jimmy Priestly, 27, Alexandria Bay, who was doing his first day's work on the job; William Aikin Sr., 44, Alexander Bay, blacksmith helper; Harry Barr, 34, Alexandria Bay, blacksmith helper; Wil-

Hoover Closely Guarded On Return to Capitol

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(AP)—President Hoover returned to the White House guarded by an extra detail of police today after spending two days at his Rapidan camp in the Virginia mountains.

Arising shortly after daybreak, the president left his camp about 6 o'clock.

The trip back was uneventful. For the first time in the recent history of his journeys to the camp he was picked up by an escort of motorcycle police as he crossed the Arlington Memorial bridge and guarded closely en route to the White House.

4 SENATE GROUPS LAUNCH INQUIRIES AS SUMMER WORK

St. Lawrence Treaty, Stock Exchange, R.F.C. and Farm Board Will Face Searching Probes.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(AP)—The powerful light of senate investigating committees was focused today on the St. Lawrence waterway treaty, the New York Stock Exchange, the Reconstruction Corporation and the farm board.

Four committees, set up by the senate to study these subjects, made plans to carry on their investigations through the summer recess in a manner promising competition with the political campaign for newspaper headlines.

Chairman Borah, of the foreign relations committee, and Chairman Norbeck, of the banking committee, named groups today to carry on the St. Lawrence treaty and the stock exchange inquiries.

At the same time, Chairman Couzens, of the special committee created to investigate Reconstruction Corporation loans made a preliminary study of the relief organization's books—finding "nothing wrong"—and an agriculture subcommittee organized itself for the farm board inquiry.

Campaign Expenditures.

The usually important senate committee to investigate campaign expenditures found itself so far in this election year of small outlays, without a single charge to investigate.

Borah appointed a subcommittee of seven, headed by himself, to inquire into the St. Lawrence waterway treaty signed with Canada yesterday, preparatory to considering ratification of it at the next session.

Those named were: Senators LaFollette, of Wisconsin; Vanderberg, if Michigon, and Glenn, of Illinois, republicans, and Robinson, of Arkansas; Walsh, of Montana, and Wagner, of New York, democrats.

"The whole purpose is to get the facts that bear on the wisdom or unwisdom of ratifying the treaty," Borah said. "We have received no formal charges, but informally some questions have been raised in connection with the Chicago matter, regarding the amount of water allowed for diversion."

Canadian Jurisdiction.

Almost simultaneously Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, was issuing a statement perdicting opposition to ratification of the treaty on the ground that it "not only acknowledges the jurisdiction of Canada in Lake Michigan, but reduces the diversion limit by 8,500 feet without any consideration."

Brookhart contended the treaty would "nullify the power of congress" over the question of diversion and make it impossible for congress to construct another canal and divert any more water without consent of Canada."

Norbeck chose a committee of three members Leaded by himself to control the stock market inquiry during the summer. The other two were Townsend, republican, Delaware, and Glass, democrat, Virginia.

Actual direction of the inquiry was turned over to James E. Stewart, of South Dakota. Norbeck said only

SEVERAL OFFICERS FACE INDICTMENT IN YOUTH'S DEATH

Early Return of Murder Bills Expected in Investigation of "Third Degree" Slaying.

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP)—Murder indictments loomed as the next step today in the sensational investigation of Nassau county police treatment of a 30-year-old prisoner, Hyman Stark, who strangled to death from a broken larynx after an ordeal of "questioning" about an attack on a detective's mother.

"The men who killed Stark are no less murderers because they are officers," declared District Attorney Elvin H. Edwards at Mineola.

Edwards said all is in readiness to call the grand jury and ask return of indictments charging murder in the second-degree, manslaughter and failure of policemen to do their duty.

This action awaits the report at 10 a. m. tomorrow of Justice Meier Steinbrink, who presided at an open John Doe hearing yesterday, and boldly declared the mass of testimony of police and detectives "obviously contained perjury."

This was being sifted today in the difficult task of fixing responsibility for Stark's death. Thirteen policemen, suspended from service, awaited the outcome of the probe.

To Sue County.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Fannie Tropp, sister of Stark, or Nathan Hacker, as he was also known, filed in surrogate's court here today an application for letters of administration in her brother's estate. She will sue Nassau county for his death, it was said.

Mrs. Tropp is represented by Samuel Leibowitz, who is also the lawyer for the three companions of Stark, who said they were battered by the police as was Stark. The lawyer said Mrs. Tropp will sue for $100,000 damages.

Stark's three fellow prisoners, Alexander Drangel, Isse Stein, also known as Alexander Feldman, and Philip Cecala, yesterday singled out eight detectives and two patrolmen who beat them with rubber hose, a heavy ledger and a shoe, they said.

Mrs. Valeria Hizenski, mother of Detective Joseph Hizenski, the woman who was robbed and beaten by four assailants in her Roslyn home, was able to return home today from the hospital.

Hizenski, who testified in a mild voice yesterday that he "poked" Stark twice when he was being grilled to obtain a confession about the attack on Mrs. Hizenski, was accused of "trying to take the rap" for his fellow officers.

"Rocking."

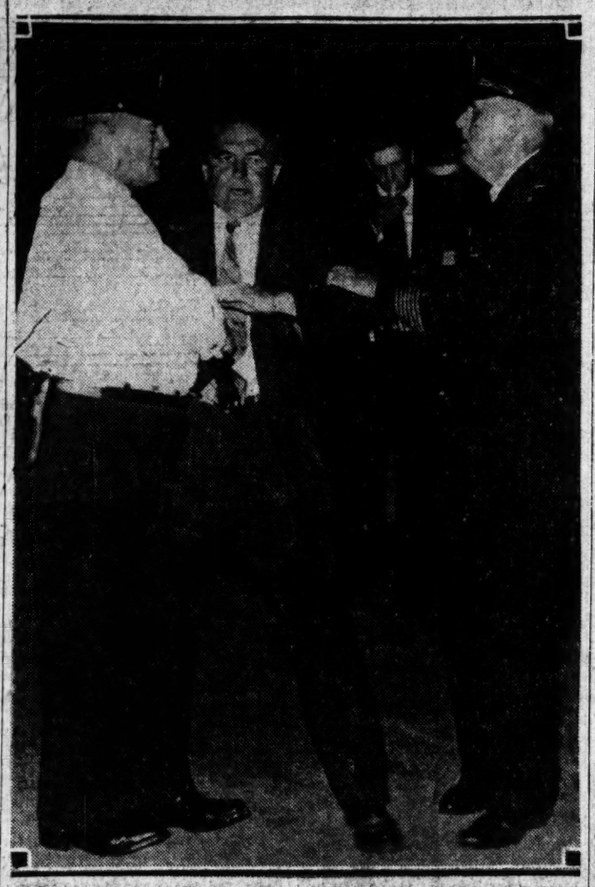
The sensational testimony of Assistant District Attorney Martin W. Littleton Jr. that Deputy Chief Frank Tappan told him of putting one foot on Stark's throat and the other on his abdomen and "rocking back and forth," led to the announcement Dr. Otto Schultze may be recalled to the stand tomorrow.

Dr. Schultze, who performed the autopsy, probably will be asked, Edwards said, whether Stark's larynx could have been broken by a shoe, and also to elaborate further on testimony about an indentation on one side of the throat, mentioned yesterday. He will be asked if it resembled a heelmark.

Littleton did not sign a waiver of immunity yesterday. Edwards explained today he was not asked to sign because he "had no suspicion at any time that Littleton knew of a beating."

However, three newspapermen, who said they heard screams emanating from the building Friday afternoon, were told today they may be asked to testify about this morning. Littleton was in his office at one end of the building at the time.

Veterans Demonstration At White House Blocked



Urban Ledoux, welfare worker of New York, who Tuesday threatened to order a picket of the White House, shown as he was taken into custody, in Washington, D. C., July 16, when he led a group of bonus marchers in picketing the executive mansion. Ledoux is known to the public as "Mr. Zero." Associated Press photo.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(AP)—While scores of veterans here seeking the bonus were in line today at the veterans administration awaiting transportation home, police reserves were rushed to the White House two blocks away to guard against a demonstration.

A few minutes later a group, about 50 members of the left wing of the bonus army, was dispersed without disorder as they neared the executive mansion.

Police were uncertain tonight whether they had stopped a demonstration or delayed the noonday meal of the group. The veterans vigorously denied any intent to picket and insisted they were merely going to new quarters for their lunch.

Anyway, most of the gates to the White House grounds were shut and those that were not were heavily guarded for the rest of the day. Police have announced "there is to be no demonstration of any kind within two blocks of the executive mansion."

Later in the day Urban Ledoux, known as "Mr. Zero," who was arrest-

NEW AIR EXPRESS STARTS AUGUST 1

Atlanta To Share in Far-Reaching Expansion of National Aerial Service.

Atlanta's air transportation service, a national network of airlines with this city as a principal distribution gateway, will be expanded August 1 to include air express along with air passenger and air mail as major traffic elements. This new express service will be known as the General Air Express, an interline system using the fast day and night mail-passenger planes of six leading airlines to give direct service or connections to principal American cities and to Canada, Mexico and South America.

American Airways and Eastern Air Transport, Atlanta's air transport lines; Transcontinental and Western Air Inc., Trans-American Airlines Corp., United States Airways Inc., and Pennsylvania Airlines Inc., are the six lines included in the system. Special door-to-door pick-up and delivery service will be performed at all points by Postal Telegraph, which has been appointed commercial agent and will use its nationwide organization of uniformed messengers and motorized equipment to handle shipments between airports and shippers' offices, officials of the two Atlanta airlines said Tuesday, in announcing the new air express service. At present 130 cities are to be directly served

PRUSSIA HEADED FOR DICTATORSHIP

Rule of Turbulent State by Federal Commission Deemed Inevitable.

BERLIN, July 19.—(AP)—Dictatorship for Prussia, with a federal commissioner in the saddle, seemed inevitable tonight on the eve of an important conference to which Chancellor Franz Von Papen summoned Dr. Karl Severing and Heinrich Hirtsiefer, the interior and welfare minister of the state.

Every effort of the newly elected Prussian diet to choose a premier who would have majority support has failed, and the government for several weeks has remained in the hands of the resigned Braun-Severing cabinet.

The federal government has been under insistent pressure from the followers of Adolf Hitler and Dr. Alfred Hugenberg. At the same time there have been bloody political clashes throughout the state, and the Prussian government has been in conflict with the federal government.

The result has been a situation considered intolerable by Chancellor Von Papen and Baron Wilhelm Von Gayl, the federal minister of interior.

On the other side, the Prussian government has felt hamstrung by federal decrees, especially the regulations permitting political groups to wear uniforms.

No official announcement has been made of the selection of the federal commissioner for the state, but news-

5 South American Nations Threatened by New Crises

BY THE UNITED PRESS.

Rebellion, threats of assassination and demands for war disturbed five South American republics Tuesday.

The government of Brazil, largest nation of the Western Hemisphere, drew soldiers and warships around the rebellious state of Sao Paulo and prepared to loose aerial bombs on that rich coffee-producing region because peace efforts were unsuccessful. Brazil's population, 40,200,000.

In the La Paz, the mountain capital of tin-producing Bolivia, demonstrators marched to the presidential palace demanding war with Paraguay, the little nation with which Bolivia has long disputed the Gran Chaco jungle frontier. A new clash was reported from the front. Bolivia's population, 3,115,000; Paraguay, 900,000. It was reported that Paraguayan troops had recaptured Fort Pitiantuta in the disputed region after a 48-hour battle.

The slight, militant president of Peru, Luis M. Sanchez-Cerro, announced the suppression of a series of rebellions alleged to have been fomented by apristas (oppositionists) and communists. At Huaraz, two rebel leaders and 25 men were captured. The president plans to purchase more airplanes to maintain order. Peru's population, 6,147,000.

A mysterious band called "The Five" threatened death to President-elect Neptali Bonifaz in Ecuador, charging him with being a Peruvian citizen, which he denied.

BOLIVIANS DEMAND WAR ON PARAGUAY

LA PAZ, Bolivia, July 19.—(UP) Boisterous crowds of demonstrators paraded through the streets of La Paz today demanding war against Paraguay.

The demonstration was prompted by new military clashes in the long-standing conflict between Bolivia and Paraguay over the Gran Chaco frontier, and involving Bolivia's desire for an outlet to the sea.

Councilman Plans To Sue Preacher For $1 Paid To Hear Political Sermon

BELOIT, Wis., July 19.—(UP)—E. R. Branigan, city councilman, announced today that he would sue the Rev. H. A. Studebaker for $1—the sum Branigan put on the collection plate last Sunday just before the sermon in which the minister "panned" the city government.

"One of the things I particularly didn't like," said Branigan, "and the thing that was very suspicious, was that he took up the collection in advance."

Branigan said he would base his suit on the laws forbidding the obtaining of money under false pretenses.

"He made a political speech when the congregation was led to expect a sermon," he said. "When a minister of the gospel pronounces himself the ambassador of God, inveigles me into his church, whether by suave voice or silvery tongue or alluring advertisements in the local papers, to hear the word of God preached, which undoubtedly my soul needs very much, and then delivers a political oration instead, which I have heard many times in the past and expect to hear many times in the future, I feel he has obtained my money under false pretenses."

The councilman attended church last Sunday, and cheerfully put a dollar bill on the plate. After the sermon he demanded his money back, but the minister told him the dollar was by that time the property of the church trustees.

MRS. ROOSEVELT, 'PERSONALLY DRY,' JOINS REPEAL PLEA

New Yorker's Aides Nearing Completion of Plans for Far-Flung Drive for Presidency.

BY WALTER T. BROWN.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 19.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the democratic presidential candidate, who said she always had been a "personal dry," today agreed with her husband and the democratic platform that the eighteenth amendment should be repealed and liquor control returned to the states.

Mrs. Roosevelt's statement, provoked by a report that she had refused to sign a membership card in an anti-prohibition organization, was issued about the time the governor was completing plans for his campaign. James A. Farley, national chairman, and Louis M. Howe, political secretary to Roosevelt, laid a program of organization work before Mr. Roosevelt.

Within a few days a national treasurer will be named, general headquarters opened in New York and regional headquarters in Chicago and probably on the Pacific coast.

Text of Statement.

Mrs. Roosevelt established her place in the prohibition fight in a statement of 57 words. It read:

"I am and always have been a 'personal dry.' I do not believe, however, that the eighteenth amendment has worked at all successfully and I favor its repeal, permitting the states to pass what laws they deem necessary. In the event of this happening, I shall always be on the side of those working for real temperance."

A Poughkeepsie newspaper quoted Mrs. Albert J. Aiken, of Pawling, saying she approached Mrs. Roosevelt at the Hyde Park home welcome to Mr. Roosevelt on July 9, and asked her to sign a membership card in the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform. Mrs. Roosevelt was said to have replied: "I am extremely sorry that I cannot do so because I am dry."

Mr. Roosevelt maintained today his silence on the Canada-United States St. Lawrence waterways treaty which was signed yesterday.

It is known he considers the federal government snubbed New York state, which is interested in hydro-electric development of the international river.

Roosevelt May Appear.

When the subcommittee of the senate foreign relations committee commences an investigation of the treaty negotiations, New York will have an opportunity to tell its story. Mr. Roosevelt, himself, is expected to appear before the committee.

Many of the Roosevelt leaders favor an intensive campaign, carried on largely by the state organizations, but with the candidates, Mr. Roosevelt and Speaker Garner, making extensive trips and few major speeches. They believe their candidates have

Martha Mills Offer Bonus to Shippers

Martha Mills, textile division of the B. F. Goodrich Company, Silvertown, Ga., has notified its cotton shippers that from now until July 31, 1933, the company will pay for seven pounds of additional cotton per bale at the current cotton price if the bales received are 100 per cent cotton wrapped.

The Goodrich mill uses approximately 73,000 bales of cotton annually to produce 30,000,000 pounds of Weftless cord for Goodrich tires.

"The seriousness of the cotton situation at the present time has prompted this action," it was said by Albert T. Matthews, vice president and general manager of the Goodrich mills. "Because of the large carry-over and the present price, which is below production cost, we feel that it is necessary to promote the increased use of cotton, particularly as applied to the cotton industry."

Hand Bill Distributing Forbidden by Jersey City

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 19.—(AP)—Led by Mayor Hague, the city commission today refused to rescind an ordinance forbidding house-to-house distribution of advertising circulars and hand bills.

The mayor told several merchants who urged the abolition of the ordinance that in the past sneak thieves and worse criminals had gotten into homes in the guise of hand-bill distributors. He said Jersey City is "remarkably free from crime" and the city commission wanted to keep the city that way.

Newspaper advertising, the mayor told the merchants, is a better form of advertising than hand bills or circulars.

U. S. FUND SOUGHT FOR RENOVATION OF SEWER SYSTEM

$15,000,000 To Be Asked. New Auditorium and Police Station Also Are Contemplated by City.

Modernization of Atlanta's sewer system to include the metropolitan area will be one of the large projected improvements in the $15,000,000 which Atlanta and Fulton county Tuesday took first steps to obtain from the federal government.

The fund will be sought from the $2,122,000,000 federal relief bill which will be administered by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

While a special committee composed of City Attorney James L. Mayson, Robert C. Alston and Marion Smith, attorneys; Robert Strickland Jr. and W. B. Spann, bankers, and C. F. Palmer, president of Palmer, Inc., is busy studying the act in so far as it relates to Atlanta, the sewerage improvements, a new police station, a new auditorium, installation of a new filter plant and prosecution of work to supplement the city's water supply by building mains into north Georgia or Tennessee, the relief committee of the county commission was to consider the county's angle.

It appeared that Atlanta probably would ask a blanket advance of about $10,000,000 for all the improvements and that the county would ask an additional $5,000,000.

Mayor Key selected the committee from those to whom he extended invitations to meet with the advisory committee, and several of the attorneys who participated in the cursory examination of the first drafts of the bill expressed the belief that funds would be available for prosecution of the sewer work. For many years it has been the most aggravating problem facing the municipality and Fulton and DeKalb counties. Citizens have objected to the emptying of millions of gallons of untreated sewage into surrounding streams each day. In hot weather the condition along the banks of streams for miles around the city is intolerable.

Fulton county's committee is composed of Walter B. Stewart, chairman; George F. Longino and Walter C. Hendrix, and a thorough study will be made in an attempt to place

Prohi Agent's Case Taken From N.Y. Court

MALONE, N. Y., July 19.—(AP)—United States Judge Bryant late today issued an order removing from the state courts the case of Prohibition Agent Bourke Bornemann, of Syracuse, N. Y., arrested at Alexandria Bay, N. Y., for reckless driving as an outgrowth of recent disorders.

Federal authorities had been expected to apply for the order yesterday, but did not make application until this afternoon. Bornemann last night failed to appear at a scheduled arraignment at Alexandria Bay, and the arraignment was postponed until Friday night.

Five persons were injured in the Alexandria Bay disorders, two of whom were alleged to have been struck by Bornemann's automobile.

Mercury To Rise Again Today After Showers Bring Relief

Despite the fact that a rain cloud caused the temperature in Atlanta to drop from the nineties to the seventies within an hour Tuesday afternoon, the weather today is slated to continue in the 90-degree bracket with even higher temperatures than those of Tuesday scheduled.

Thundershowers in several sections of Dixie brought relief from the intense heat Tuesday, but other sections continued to swelter. Light showers were reported in Atlanta, New Orleans, Memphis and other points. However, Nashville saw 94-degree weather; Richmond, 95; Charlotte, 92; Montgomery, 92, and Little Rock 91.

Florida enjoyed ocean breezes and while the south was sweltering at many points, Miami experienced 84 degrees for its maximum temperature and Jacksonville 89 degrees.

Today's official forecast for Atlanta reads, "Continued fair with temperatures still high." The temperature today is slated to reach 92 or even as high as 94 degrees, according to Arthur Scott, meteorologist, after a minimum of 72 degrees. The low temperature Tuesday was 73 degrees and the highest 90.4 degrees at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

There had been a steady rise in the temperature during Tuesday morning and at noon the mercury stood at 89 degrees but slipped back to 88 degrees by 1 p. m. However, by 2 o'clock it was again up and had reached 90.4 degrees for the day's maximum. Then a rain cloud, carrying thunder and a few drops of rain, came into the picture and by 3 o'clock the mercury had slid down to 78 degrees.

OVER 200 MILLION ALREADY IS ASKED TO SUCCOR NEEDY

Hoover Postpones Signing, Set for Tuesday, in Order To Allow More Time To Reorganize Finance Group.

OVER 30 STATES SEEK ASSISTANCE

12 Commonwealths Already Have Requested Nearly Quarter Billion for Direct Relief.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(AP)—President Hoover today again postponed signing the great relief bill, but he probably will make it law tomorrow—opening the outstretched hand of the federal government to aid with $2,122,000,000 those in want and provide jobs by loans to states and otherwise.

His aides at the White House made known that the chief executive wishes to allow more time for reorganization of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation—mandatory under the relief act within 10 days of his signature.

He has yet to appoint successors for Governor Eugene Meyer, of the Federal Reserve board, and Farm Loan Commissioner Paul Bestor, who are taken off the board. He has given no indication of his choices, but the names of Owen D. Young, the noted industrialist, and Wilson W. Mills, Detroit banker, have been discussed very freely for the two places.

It is the Reconstruction Corporation which will carry the great relief task authorized by the new legislation. Already the preponderant majority of the states are looking there for help.

By his signing of the mammoth bill enacted by congress on its closing day, the path then opens to the Reconstruction Corporation door. Already the preponderant majority of the states are looking there for help.

In fact, less than 15 of the 48 were shown by an Associated Press compilation intend definitely not to take full advantage of the relief act.

Whitehead Balm Suit Settled Out of Court

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP)—Mrs. Annette Bracy's $500,000 breach of promise suit against Joseph B. Whitehead, millionaire sportsman, was reported today to have been settled out of court. The amount of the settlement could not be learned.

When the Park avenue widow filed her suit two years ago, Whitehead said he had refused to marry her because of her friendship for five other men.

GEORGIA HIGHWAYS TO GET $3,100,000

Fund Available Under New Relief Bill, Chairman Barnett Announces

Federal aid totaling $3,100,000 for Georgia highways will be available under the new federal relief bill and $2,000,000 in contracts will be awarded about August 15, Chairman J. W. Barnett of the state highway board, announced Tuesday.

With $2,000,000 in federal funds already available, a total of $5,100,000 may be spent on the state's roads during the year, Chairman Barnett said. After the initial award of $2,000,000 the board plans to award contracts at the rate of $1,000,000 a month until the funds are exhausted.

The board is considering a rotation system in the employment of ordinary labor to provide work for the greatest number of unemployed.

Chief Engineer S. P. McWhorter Tuesday conferred with district engineers from throughout the state regarding projects in their respective territories.

State funds are practically exhausted, Chairman Barnett said, but under the terms of the new relief bill it is unnecessary to match federal funds with state money, thereby making the federal funds immediately available.

as much relief on a self-help plan as possible.

It is estimated that the cost of making the sewer improvements would be about $8,000,000 if Fulton county assists, the new police station will cost about $500,000 and, according to estimates of Councilman John A. White, chairman of the auditorium committee of council, cost of the auditorium would be about $1,000,000, leaving about $500,000 for waterworks improvements.

In addition to the committee, which the mayor selected and Councilman White, the following others attended the conference in the mayor's office:

Ronald Ransom, Alvin B. Cates, Councilman J. Frank Beck, J. P. Allen, John E. Smith and Robert C. Mizell.

LOCATION OF HOME BANKS NOT YET DECIDED UPON

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Pending the appointment by President Hoover of a board to administer provisions of the federal home loan bank bill as passed by congress during the closing hours of the recent session, officials of the treasury and commerce departments were unable to give any authoritative information on the location of the eight or ten branches of the bank to be established under the act.

At the same time, however, it was admitted that Atlanta is in position to command major consideration for one of the branch houses. Already, in fact, the groundwork has been laid for the city's case to be presented at the proper time. Several members of the state congressional group have interested themselves in the city's prospective bid.

As finally passed by the house and senate after much wrangling as to the propriety of accepting the Glass-Borah currency inflation rider, the bill provided that not less than eight or more than 12 branch banks should be set up. No suggestion was made in the measure as to how the country was to be divided into districts but it was intimated by members of the committees framing the legislation that in general the lines of the federal reserve districts should be adhered to.

The ultimate location of the home loan bank branches will be left to the board. Until the board is appointed, therefore, no one can say what its policy will be with respect to the districts or zones, and finally, branch locations.

A few of the more important organizations or agencies authorized to procure loans under the act are mortgage loan companies, insurance companies, trust companies, mortgage guarantee companies, while state banks and other banking institutions are authorized to become members and non-member borrowers of home loan bank funds. Home owners coming within the limits of the act who are not able to obtain mortgage money elsewhere are authorized to receive advances with the limitation that the provision shall not be effective "when the stock of the federal government has been retired." The minimum capital of each branch bank is fixed at $15,000,000. It is provided that no mortgage will be accepted as collateral security for a loan which is past due more than six months.

G. E. Shows Decline In 2-Quarter Earnings

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., July 19.—(AP)—The General Electric Company, in its report for the first half of this year, issued today, discloses that, while both gross and net earnings declined substantially from the corresponding period of 1931, the organization more than earned its recently reduced dividends.

The company's statement shows profits available for dividends on the common stock for the six months amounted to $7,653,187, equal to 27 cents a share, compared with $21,523,722, or 75 cents a share, for the similar period last year. Sales billed totalled $80,210,498, against $141,180,091 in the 1931 period, a decrease of 43 per cent.

The dividend on this stock is now 40 cents per share annually, the next quarterly payment being due on July 25.

Scenes at Fort McPherson where the reserve officers of the 328th infantry, famous World War regiment, are in training for a period of two weeks. In the top picture, Lieutenant Colonel W. P. Whitney, commanding the 328th infantry, is shown inspecting gas masks. The men are, from left to right: H. A. Langston, O. F. Lowrey, E. L. Sarra, J. S. McColskey, M. E. Lipscomb, D. C. McGovern, E. Two weeks' training under the supervision of regular army officers is being given the reserve officers of the famous 328th infantry at Fort McPherson. The regiment arrived at the fort last Sunday.

The unit of 80 officers is commanded by Lieutenant Colonel William P. Whitney, of Plant City, Fla. Captain Edwin Aldridge, U. S. A., plans and training officer of the 22d infantry, is in command of the instructors of the 328th infantry. Training is going forward rapidly, and drills are being held every day at the fort. Practice in chemical warfare also is being given the officers of the reserve unit.

The 328th infantry was one of the most noted regiments during the late war, taking a distinguished part in many of the most famous battles along the fronts. It participated in the battle of St. Mihiel, and was among the leaders in the Meuse-Argonne offensive, in which many of the regiment's soldiers were killed. The regiment was formed of southerners and included Sergeant Alvin York, world-famous war hero, who without aid captured more than a hundred Germans in a machine gun nest. He is regarded as perhaps the most outstanding of the heroes of the war. The regiment trained before the war at Camp Gordon.

Every year they attend a training camp, where new men and officers are taught the loyalty and devotion to the regiment which characterized the original members.

Boy, 12, Drowned In Chattahoochee

Elvan Harrell, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Harrell, of 20 South Evelyn place, Grove Park, was drowned Tuesday morning in the Chattahoochee river while swimming just above the junction of the stream and Peachtree creek.

In the water with playmates, the boy swam into deep and treacherously swift water. Tiring, he went down, and was swept along in the current for several hundred yards until his body lodged on a fishing line. Charlie King and Arthur Crowder, a negro, recovered the body and County Policeman E. A. Wilson took the boy to Grady hospital. Physicians pronounced him dead upon arrival.

The body was carried to Blanchard Brothers, where funeral arrangements were being made.

summoned to the balcony of the presidential palace by the crowd, which sang the national anthem and shouted "Viva Bolivia!"

The president urged them to be calm and to disperse. Flowers were thrown from the balcony to the people in the streets.

Prior to the demonstration military headquarters at Munoz reported that on July 15 more than 300 Paraguayans surrounded the Bolivian forces at Santa Cruz, near the Gran Chaco section, which threatened to lead the two countries into war several years ago. There was a clash in which at least two persons were killed.

The report said artillery fire was heard.

Unconfirmed radio telegraph dispatches said the Paraguayan government had called home its army officers who are studying in Europe, and said Paraguayan troops were being concentrated. While the reports were not confirmed, they illustrated the potential dangers of the strained relations between the two countries.

BRAZILIAN FEDERALS SURROUND REBEL FORCE

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, July 19.—(UP)—The government's land, sea and air forces built a ring of steel around the rebels of rich Sao Paulo state tonight and were reported preparing to open up an aerial bombardment.

Six federal airplanes left the airdrome at Campo Affonso to reconnoiter over the enemy line in Sao Paulo, which is in rebellion against the provisional regime of President Getulio Vargas.

Officials announced the fliers were ordered not to bomb rebel strongholds, but the front line correspondent of the newspaper A. Noite reported that plans for a bombardment had been made.

The government, however, desired to delay bombardment as long as possible because it would endanger the lives of many civilians and undoubtedly destroy much valuable property if the rebel headquarters in the center of Sao Paulo City were bombed.

All troops at the capital were confined to barracks awaiting orders to move to the front and the government was ready to place 45,000 in the field.

LIFE OF PRESIDENT-ELECT THREATENED IN ECUADOR

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, July 19.—(UP)—President-Elect Neptali Bonifaz was threatened with death today if he accepts the presidency of Ecuador.

The political league known as "The Five" wrote Bonifaz—threatening him if he does not announce his withdrawal by 5 p. m. tomorrow.

The threat was believed to be the outgrowth of opposition to the president-elect on the grounds that he is a Peruvian, a charge which he recently denied.

The political situation has been disturbed recently, with several unsuccessful efforts to bring about a violent governmental change.

LEADER OF REBELLION IS ARRESTED IN PERU

ORDER IS RESTORED AFTER PERUVIAN REVOLT

LIMA, Peru, July 19.—(UP)—President Luis M. Sanchez-Cerro announced today order had been restored throughout Peru after a series of minor rebellions. He said he would purchase three naval and army airplane squadrons and named a committee to collect the necessary money as a voluntary loan.

The president asked businessmen to discharge all aprista and communist workers as they were blamed for the disorders.

Wales Sees Early Return To World Prosperity

LONDON, July 19.—(UP)—The Prince of Wales said tonight that he believed this year would witness the first move toward the world's return to better times.

Speaking at the West African dinner, the prince said he hoped trade recovery was not far distant and added:

"It is my belief that 1932 will witness the beginning of a return to happier and more prosperous times and a great revival of world trade."

Board Will Consider Cuts in Water Division

Finance committee action on recommendations of W. Evans Chambers, municipal survey expert, that 71 employes be cut from the pay rolls of the waterworks department will await findings of a special sub-committee, it was decided Tuesday afternoon. Councilman James L. Wells, chairman, said he would select the committee today to make a thorough investigation and file a report.

Chambers repeated his charges that the department is honeycombed with employes who could be dispensed with. He cited the fact that it cost $1 to pump 41,210 gallons of water in 1923 and that the same amount of money pumped only 36,915 in 1931 with more modern equipment. He also charged that 60 employes of the department are related to other employes, although he said none is related to W. Zode Smith, general manager. Chambers said that the department's pay roll in 1923 totaled $230,000 and that in 1931 it amounted to $303,000.

Smith countered with a citation of figures showing that there are 21,000 more meters now than in 1922, that in that year there were only 397 miles of mains, but that there were 617 in 1931, and that total operation costs in 1922 were $449,054 as compared with $462,507 for 1931.

Donnelly Kidnaper Draws 35-Year Term

KANSAS CITY, July 19.—(AP)—Charles Mele, a gambler, was convicted tonight of kidnaping Mrs. Nell Q. Donnelly, wealthy garment manufacturer. A 35-year prison term was fixed by the jury.

Martin Deputy, alias Depew, and Walter Werner, previously were sentenced to life terms after pleading guilty to the same charge. Lace Browning, Holliday, Kan., farmer, was sentenced to 25 years' imprisonment.

Mrs. Donnelly was abducted last December 16 and kept prisoner for 34 hours, while the kidnapers sought vainly to collect $75,000 ransom. She was released unharmed December 18.

$3,250,000 ALLOTTED FOR ROADS IN FLORIDA

Funds, Advanced, Will Be Deducted From Future Appropriations.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 19.—(AP)—More than $3,250,000 in federal funds will be spent on federal aid highways in Florida before July 1, 1933, Chairman H. H. Wells, of the state road department, announced here otday.

Congressional action for the relief of the unemployed has made $1,629,204 in federal aid road funds available to Florida at this time and has authorized advancement of an equal amount of federal money to enable the state to match the appropriation now available, Wells explained.

He said there is no question of the state borrowing the money from the federal government, as this is prohibited by the state constitution. The $1,629,204 is available as an emergency allotment of regular federal aid road funds and the advance of the same amount is to allow the state to do the work at once, thus affording employment, he said.

The funds advanced, he said, will be deducted from future appropriations of federal aid road funds to Florida.

Many restrictions usually placed on the use of federal aid road money have been lifted, the chairman said, so that the work may be started as soon as possible.

HOKE O'KELLEY URGES RELIEF FROM TAXES

Candidate at Newnan Also Protests Plan To Resubmit Dry Law.

NEWNAN, July 19.—Hoke O'Kelley, of Atlanta, candidate for governor, in a speech here at noon today in the city courtroom, gave a plan for the relief of taxation "against farm land and other real estate." Judge W. L. Stallings presided.

"Many people who have lived frugal and industrious lives, continually working away and denying themselves of desired conveniences, and saying and putting their money in real estate so as to be secure in their old age, find that now the income from farming and real estate is so low that they are barely able to pay property taxes," Mr. O'Kelley said. "Many widows have property which was worth something for financial returns 20 years ago and to which they are looking for support; now they find that the income from that property is not sufficient to pay its own tax. The tax burden has been growing continually worse the last 10 years, and has now reached the point where it has either got to be solved or many people now living will die under a burden of taxation which will never be relieved for them. Therefore, while this tax problem has always been important, it is now of paramount importance and one which citizens of Georgia should undertake to solve.

Taxes Relief Sought.

"Property taxes have been returning to the general treasury of the state of Georgia between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 each year.

"These taxes are collected on out-of-date assessments and are a burden on the taxpayers far beyond the value of $5,000,000. If these taxes were eliminated, the value of all real estate thereby relieved would be greatly enhanced. A $5,000,000 relief to real estate would be worth many times that figure in the enhancement value of the property affected. A lifting of this burden would give a firmer hold to the small property owner on his home, increasing the value of his equity to an extent where he might continue to own his home. Also it would place realty loans on a more secure foundation. Business would be on a better foundation after it was relieved of this burden of taxation, and being on a firmer foundation, all laborers and employes would be able to depend on their jobs being continued.

"There is a practical way to relieve that $5,000,000 tax. The state property taxes could be eliminated and dropped out of the plan of taxes raised in the state of Georgia. However, to do that, money would have to come from some other source to largely take its place, because the general expenses of the state, such as expenses of education and general government, could not be decreased to a very great extent without impairing the efficiency and scope of government. However, they can be decreased some without disrupting state affairs, and fortunately, there is another source of revenue which is now being diverted from the general fund into road construction, namely, the automobile tag money. That fund is equal to about three-fourths of the state property tax, even when that property tax was being paid in full. It is the automobile license tag money which is now added to the gasoline tax to go for road construction and maintenance. During the last several years tag money has amounted to about $4,500,000 annually.

Diversion From Message.

"You will notice that I state that the automobile tag money is now being diverted from the general treasury. I wish to call your attention to the fact that it is improper and incorrect terminology to state that I favor diverting any fund into the general treasury. The diversion takes place when money is turned into a special fund instead of being paid into the general treasury. No income of the state should be diverted unless the reason is clear for doing so. There are no doubt some few instances when it is justifiable. By leaving the automobile license tag money in the general treasury, there to be used for the general expenses of the state, the real property tax can be dropped entirely, so far as state revenue is concerned. At the present time, we have linked together state and county taxes, both being collected by county officials. The county taxing authorities assess taxes necessary for carrying on county government and add that to the state tax rate. The state tax rate is constant all over the state for any given year, but the county rates are different, according to the needs and desires of the respective counties. Therefore, as it now stands, the county taxing authorities add on their rates to the state rates and collect them at the same time. Many citizens do not know whether or not their county tax rates are improper, because they are linked with state taxes. If there were no taxes other than local taxes being levied on real estate, then the people in each county would know just what their county taxes are, because the rate as assessed instead of being a joint state and county tax would be a county tax only. That would relieve local property from the state burden of taxation.

"Frequently there are proper reasons why one county should have a greater rate than another county. When that condition exists and the people think they need a different rate, they now are privileged to have a different rate, which privilege would not be disturbed by this plan. That principle of taxation would leave property tax money in the county where the property is located instead of sending it into Atlanta to be disbursed from there. Likewise, it would decrease taxes to the extent of $5,000,000, which could be left in the pockets of the taxpayers. Many counties could get their tax rates down to practically nothing on real estate. Particularly, this could be done in counties where the county government is inclined to be economical in its expenditures. This would enable the residents of counties where the farmers are hard pressed to get up their money to require that their county tax rate be kept very low and practically relieve property in some counties from burdens of taxation entirely. This lifting off of the state levy would result in a fairer burden of support of state government resting on all the people because the assessments of property for taxation by various counties are different from each other. The state rate is constant, so where the county assessors are diligent in their duties of bringing out all property for taxation, more money leaves the county for the state treasury than goes from counties where the assessors are more lenient or dilatory. This puts a penalty on diligent performance of duty, which should not be penalized.

Use Auto Tag Money.

"The solution of our tax problem is the question of primary importance facing the citizens of Georgia today; therefore, to recapitulate and summarize, I wish to state that the sum and substance of the economic cause which I champion is that I am in favor of the state discontinuing levying the general state taxes against property. I am in favor of using the automobile license tax revenue for general expenses of the state to take the place of the property tax which we have heretofore secured from Georgia property owners.

"By relieving this tag, home ownership would be encouraged. One of the greatest stabilizing influences in our civilization is the inherent desire of all good citizens to own a home. This inclination and desire in the minds and hearts of parents of families, with its accompanying factors, has done more to make our state secure than any other characteristic. To foster this spirit and make such a high desire possible of attainment would be one of the most stabilizing influences which could be brought to bear by any state. So well known is it a fact that the home building instinct is laudable and inherent in all creatures that it is considered decidedly bad taste to destroy even the nest of a bird. Nevertheless, to continue a tax rate which cannot be paid by citizens of Georgia, causes this great commonwealth to do the very thing to homes of its citizens which we condemn a bad boy for doing to the nest of a bird. This condition could be remedied by discontinuing property taxes levied by the state. Georgia can be completely removed as a factor from the field of foreclosures in tax fi. fas. of the homes which its citizens have so diligently established.

"I am in favor of carrying out the principle of reorganization and simplification heretofore announced of the state government, so as to do away with the duplication and conflict of departments which have hampered plans for economy in state work, making such changes here and there as the best interests of the state demand in the light of any new conditions.

"I am in favor of developing our educational system back to a point of pre-eminence among our states. It can be brought up by giving the department of education a proper importance in relationship to other departments of the state. Our school system can be developed up out of its present condition into a pre-eminence which will reflect to the credit of this generation and insure to the benefit of Georgia for years to come. Teachers should be paid on the basis on which they are contracted with and on the date their salaries are due. I will have something additional to say along educational lines in the future as the campaign develops, but suffice it to say now that I will co-operate with school authorities named by the voters of the state and attempt to further the cause of education at every opportunity.

"During the last few weeks prohibition has become a live issue. We already have our state law on prohibition which has stood for 25 years. The principles announced in that law are as virile and proper today as they were when originally announced. About a quarter of a century ago Georgia went on record for prohibition, and enacted its prohibition law which is still in the Georgia code. That is the law in Georgia. I am in favor of the law and believe it right in principle. I am dry as an individual and favor prohibition as a political policy for the United States and for the state of Georgia. I believe it is destined to put us away ahead of other nations and states where it is still legal to manufacture intoxicating liquors and stimulate the sale of them by open advertising under the protection of the law. Even from a financial and economic standpoint, prohibition is better for us. Whatever taxes the government obtains from whisky would be no more than the people paid out. Furthermore, whatever consumers of alcoholic liquors paid to the brewers would be money which was deflected from channels of more beneficial trade.

"Further proof that the repeal of the prohibition law would not benefit us could be deduced from the fact that nations having no prohibition law have a worse depression than we have. England, Canada, France, Germany and Italy are not in as good economic condition as the United States, although they are without prohibition law. A sober citizenry are better producers and better consumers of goods of legitimate trades. I was 12 years old when Georgia passed the prohibition law and was in favor of the passage of the law before it was enacted. I have always believed in the propriety of it, and am old enough to remember that conditions before the prohibition law was enacted were worse than they are now. As governor of Georgia I will remain a friend of the prohibition law. Likewise, I remember the condition which Georgia was in after we had state-wide prohibition, but before the eighteenth amendment of the constitution was enacted.

"The eighteenth amendment was as long a step forward for the nation as the Georgia prohibition law was a forward step for this state. Therefore, I am in favor of maintaining the eighteenth amendment as a part of the United States constitution. No referendum is necessary. The way provided in the constitution is the only way it could be changed. The eighteenth amendment is now a part of the constitution, and as governor of Georgia I will exercise my influence and efforts in defeating any movement looking toward ratifying a change of the United States constitution on this subject."

FARM BOARD PROBERS MAY STUDY MARKETS

Investigation of Exchanges Tentatively Included in Program for Senators.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(AP)—Tentative plans for sending investigators to look into the activities of grain and cotton exchanges and traders as part of a senate subcommittee's farm board inquiry were announced today by Chairman McNary, republican, Oregon.

In making public the program of the group, McNary expalined it lacked approval of other members, as two in Washington were unable to attend today's meeting to formulate plans, and two are out of the city.

He is telegraphing Senators Kendrick, democrat, Wyoming, and Wheeler, democrat, Montana, for their approval. Senators Norbeck, republican, South Dakota, and Norris, republican, Nebraska, were absent from today's meeting.

Norris, who told newspapermen he could not serve on the subcommittee because of other work, has not notified McNary formally, and no successor has been chosen.

McNary said he expected investigators to be appointed within a few weeks.

Profits From Municipal Utilities Make Ponca City a Taxless Town

KANSAS CITY, July 19.—(AP)—An Oklahoma town—Ponca City—joined today the select circle of municipalities that have cast off the tax yoke.

There will be no municipal tax levy next year, the Ponca City commissioners announced.

In neighboring Kansas, two cities—Chanute and Colby—are tax free; a third, Iola, expects to achieve the goal in 1934, and half a dozen other towns are paring levies with the hope of reaching the vanishing point in the not too distant future.

The answer? Profits from municipal utilities, economy all down the line and strict budgeting.

The Ponca City commissioners have been reducing taxes despite the fact that municipal water and light rates have been cut twice in two years.

Last year's municipal tax was an 8-mill-on-a-dollar sinking fund levy. This year the $138,714 appropriation will be paid with other municipal expenses from the profits of the utilities.

Chanute, a town of 10,000 population, for the third successive year has adopted a budget which will require no municipal tax. The budget not only includes the ordinary city expenses, but appropriates $10,000 for public improvements to furnish employment for the city's jobless next winter.

"It required a good many years to build up to it," said Mayor H. W. Loy, discussing Chanute's economic situation, "but it is an end I believe any city can attain by careful planning, and the ownership of its utilities."

Chanute's maximum gas rate of 50 cents a thousand, maximum electric rate of 6 cents a kilowatt and minimum water rate of 25 cents a hundred cubic feet, will compare favorably with the rates in any other town in the United States, Mayor Loy declared. The town had the natural advantage of owning its own gas wells when its plant was established. They since have been exhausted.

Chanute reduced salaries of its employes approximately 7 per cent as an additional safeguard against the necessity of a tax levy.

Colby has found the profits of its light and gas plants sufficient to save its 3,000 citizens from municipal taxes for three years, and is expected to adopt a budget which will obviate a levy for the fourth year.

Iola recently reduced its levy to 7 mills on a dollar, approximately half the average for towns of its class in Kansas. With the announcement of the levy, the lowest in 73 years, the city commission predicted the town would be tax free in 1934.

Mayor Harmon Hobart said the reduction had been accomplished with the rates on water, light and gas from the municipally owned plants remaining at the 1930 level.

Application of private business methods, Carol Hoyt, finance commissioner, said explained ample profits at rates which met with consumers' approval as to reasonableness.

Among other Kansas towns which have materially reduced their levies through profits of municipal utilities, despite shrinking values of taxable property, are Belleville and Winfield.

ATLANTA, GA., JULY 20, 1932.

NOW FOR THE WORK!

The city should avail itself, with the least possible delay, of the opportunity to secure from the federal relief fund the necessary amount needed to modernize the sewerage system of Atlanta.

The present inadequate facilities for the disposal of the city's sewage have brought about a situation that is unbearable and has already resulted in property owners along polluted streams going into the courts for relief.

Not only can the work be done at less cost now than in all probability will ever be possible in the future, but it will furnish employment for hundreds of those who are now without jobs and dependent upon charity for shelter and food for themselves and their families.

Untreated sewage from Atlanta is now polluting every stream in the city's environs because of the inadequacy of the present disposal plants. Formal warning has been issued by the county health department that the present situation is likely to jeopardize the health of the city, and three mayors have warned of the danger of delay in modernizing the city's sewerage system.

Not only Atlanta and its environs are affected by these conditions. Both the Chattahoochee, going via Columbus to the Gulf of Mexico, and the Ocmulgee, passing Macon on its way to the Atlantic, are being defiled. Newspapers in the cities along the line of these two rivers have already discussed the threat to their communities from the untreated Atlanta sewage, and they threaten to go to the courts for protection.

No law in the state is more strict than that prohibiting the pollution of streams, and when the matter is brought before the courts the city of Atlanta is certain to be enjoined from further dumping of raw and untreated sewage into water courses which spread out in every direction.

The work of modernizing the present system can be gotten under way with but little preliminary delay. With funds authorized at the last bond election the city, in conjunction with the federal government, has had prepared a detailed geodetic sewerage survey of the city and its surrounding territory.

This survey, which cost nearly $500,000, is now in the files at the city hall, and makes it possible to start the construction of the new sewerage system as soon as it can be financed.

No more serious problem faces the city government than its present inadequate sewage disposal system. Now that opportunity is presented, through the government's emergency relief fund, to finance the necessary improvements, no time should be lost in taking the necessary steps to start the work.

THE STRENGTHENING TREND.

The steady stiffening and strengthening of prices on the bond market during the past two weeks is a natural accompaniment of indictions of improvement in commercial and industrial conditions which are becoming increasingly apparent.

Despite the handicap of setbacks in foreign bonds and in the appearance on the New York market of more than $70,000,000 of new issues, the last two weeks of trading have seen a firm, although slow, upward trend to higher price levels. Both utilities and industrials have shown the ability to move steadily ahead and retain their gains.

Construction activities, especially in the south, have registered distinct gains during the past two months—industrial expansions and improvements significantly leading the list of commercial contracts.

Reduced cotton acreage and poor crop prospects should have a stimulating effect on prices from now until the picking season, while the shortage of the Russian wheat crop has already had its effect on the markets of the world, which will have to be supplied this year almost entirely from the fields of the Americas.

The adjournment of congress will bring relief to business from the uncertainty of what to expect—an uncertainty which has definitely retarded the start of an upward climb to normalcy.

The strong indications of steadying conditions that are now apparent are significantly in line with those which have preceded the passing of depressions in the past. While, therefore, anything like a definite and decided upward trend is still not apparent, the condition as a whole offers sound basis for confidence and optimism.

MISS ROSA WOODBERRY.

The south loses a conspicuous and useful educational figure in the death of Miss Rosa Woodberry, founder of the Woodberry Hall School for Girls of Atlanta.

Born of a distinguished South Carolina family, Miss Woodberry was brought to Georgia at an early age by her parents, being educated in the schools of this state and graduating from the Lucy Cobb Institute in Athens. She was later the first woman student at the University of Georgia.

After teaching for a number of years at Lucy Cobb, Miss Woodberry came to Atlanta in 1908 to found the school which she was still conducting at the time of her death. During its quarter of a century of existence it has enrolled thousands of young women who have since become leaders in every phase of women's activities in many southern states.

The passing of Miss Woodberry will be a disinct loss to church work and women's organizations in the state. She was a devoted member of the Episcopal church, being the only woman member of the diocesan board of Georgia, and for many years had given generously of her time to the State Federation of Women's Clubs, which she had served as parliamentarian for many years.

Miss Woodberry's life was marked to a unique degree by devoted and unselfish service and her death will bring sadness to thousands throughout the south who were trained under her gentle direction or who served with her in various organizations.

THE OLYMPIC GAMES.

With practically every ship coming into American ports bringing groups of participants for the Olympic games which start in Los Angeles the last of this month, and with the papers full of try-outs in various sections of the country for the selection of the members of the American team, the thoughts of the nation are more generally turned to this quadrennial, international sports event than ever before.

Especially is this true in Atlanta where interest is made all the more keen by the winning of a place on the swimming team by Miss Louisa Robert, charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. (Chip) Robert, of this city.

In the last Olympiad the United States won first place with 169 points, Finland being second with only 80 points. In that meet the weak spot of the American representation lay in the track teams. Since in the track try-outs this year the contestants have shattered many world records it would seem that this weakness will not be evidenced in this year's contests.

Contestants of other types this year are apparently as adept as those of four years ago, so the prospects seem bright for another sweeping victory by the athletes representing the United States.

Much interest this year will center in the work of the Japanese, whose team is still regarded as somewhat the baby entrant in the Olympiad. The land of Nippon entered a team for the first time in the games of 1912, when that country had just begun to take interest in the sports represented in the Olympic games. Each year since then Japan has seen a greater development of its athletics and in each successive Olympiad a better showing was made until 1928, when for the first time the diminutive but doughty Japs became a real threat to the other contenders.

The games, starting on July 30, will continue for 16 days and nights and for that period all the world will have its eyes on the reports from Los Angeles telling of the feats of brawn and endurance being performed by more than 2,000 athletes, representing every race and color and practically every spoken tongue.

A golf club has been invented which whistles when it is swung correctly. The inventor should go a step farther and have it swear when an incorrect swing is made.

The yellow menace has begun to attack straw hats.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Russia and U. S. A. Prosperity.

For the next fifteen or twenty years Russia will build up its industrial machinery. What it exports at the present time is merely for the purpose of obtaining foreign valuta, dollars, pounds sterling, marks, florins and franks. And these foreign valuta are utilized to purchase machinery abroad.

One cannot help wondering what the effect would be on the industrial situation in any given country, if that country should take the initiative and provide the soviet union with a huge credit to make its purchases without restrictions. Such a country would, moreover, render a vast service to the world at large. For the moment Russia had the facilities to buy, she would stop exporting necessities which she can use very well at home. And so we would soon hear the last of the so-called soviet-dumping policy. And the state which granted such credits would itself benefit with a boom in her own industry that would not come amiss at the present moment.

The objection to this is that Russia might default on payments. Why this theory is held is a mystery. For the bolsheviks have never defaulted so far. True, they have repudiated the old czarist debt. But as to obligations assumed since they came to power, these were scrupulously honored.

Such at least was the admission made by Mr. Snowden in the house of commons two years ago. The soviet union is a historical fact; in other words, it exists. There is no getting away from that. And she will build her industries anyway, whether we like it or not.

Why cannot our people benefit from that vast enterprise? Truly, it seems amazing our present attitude of non-recognition. Why couldn't it be tried out for a year or two, anyway, so that we would see how it works? Big business in America is for recognition. And if big business doesn't know its business, who does?

Tombs of Czars.

This morning I walked in the somber crypts of the Kremlin amid the tombs of the Rurik and Romanoff dynasties. Huge bronze sarcophagi, row upon row. Ivan the Terrible sleeps next to the son he killed with his own hands. Here also lie the sister of Peter the Great, whom he put in a monastery, and his son whom he had killed for his old-fashioned ideas.

Napoleon shuddered as he walked in this crypt and it is not surprising that even this man of blood should have blanched at the thought of the unparalleled cruelty and bestiality that the nearness of these imperial corpses evokes.

Peter himself was not buried here. He lies in the city he helped to build on the banks of the Neva and that doesn't carry even his own name today. But the others are there. Here came Alexander II and his grandson. Niholas II, the last of the czars straight from their coronation to take an oath of fealty to the traditions of their forefathers.

I saw the place where Nicholas was to have rested if fate in the shape of the Ekaterinenburg soviet hadn't intervened. His tomb is empty. It was not difficult to picture a day when nobles and grand dukes and metropolitans and archimandrites came here to chant their dolorous hymns over a dead czar. Scenes of splendor this Kremlin saw. Scenes of blood, horrible, unimaginable, beyond conception. You felt the weight of innocent blood bearing down on your shoulders in those crypts below which are secret chambers beneath secret chambers again, where orgies of blood once held sway.

I was glad to step into the sunshine again and to look at the splendid white palace in front of me.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

DOCTORS AND PEOPLE, LISTEN

I was much interested in an article of yours headed "No Sympathy" (writes an eastern reader). Having had some experience, I heartily agree with you and I cannot understand why physicians will not recommend this treatment for hemorrhoids and allied troubles.

(The reader refers, I suppose, to the injection of ambulant treatment which I recommend, provided the patient can find a physician of good professional standing who is skilled in the technic.)

Some time ago, the reader continues, I talked with our family physician and asked him why physicians do not approve of such treatment. He said it is principally because it was not used or recommended in the large clinics. He said that if you have the standard treatment or operation and anything untoward happened, you just died from it. But if you had this newfangled or unusual treatment and anything untoward happened, it would be ascribed to the "quackery" of the method. In any event, I have great sympathy for anyone who is so troubled, and if you will give me the name and address of the person signing himself M. E., I will be happy to tell him where he can go and be cured by a physician who knows his business along this line . . . I realize it would be unethical for you to recommend a particular doctor, but I would be at liberty to give the information . . . (End of letter.)

Unethical? Not at all. I do recommend individual physicians to my correspondents, scores of them every day.

While I cannot give the identity of any correspondent without his or her consent, I am glad to recommend physicians or specialists to correspondents who ask for them, when I happen to know of competent ones and can conscientiously recommend them. All by private letter, of course.

Here is one good reason why the layman should always make sure the physician or specialist he purposes to consult is of good professional standing. In the event that a claim for malpractice should occur, the patient is out of luck if the doctor is without standing, for generally such persons are not responsible. On the other hand, if the doctor is one of good standing he is responsible or at least he has sufficient insurance to cover any such claims.

There is much truth in what the correspondent's family physician told him about the intolerant attitude of the regular profession toward these innovations in practice. It is due to lack of leadership; the medical organization is at present controlled by narrow, self-seeking men, whose conduct of affairs brings emoluments for themselves but little benefit to the profession at large or to the public.

In view of the sorry record of the profession in the diagnosis and treatment of rectal troubles, it comes with ill grace for any physician to criticize unfavorably the injection or ambulant treatment of these common and painful conditions, especially when he obviously knows nothing about the technic or its results.

I offer this as notice to the public that the injection treatment, in the hands of a qualified physician, is superior to the old surgical methods; and as warning to the profession that half-baked criticisms that come to my notice will be summarily considered.

Candidacy of Crisp of National Interest, Says New York Evening Post

(From the New York Evening Post.)

Georgia has an opportunity to make to the United States senate a gift of the greatest value. Representative Charles R. Crisp has been the most brilliant and effective statesman that the Georgians have sent to Washington for many a long year. He has served 10 terms in the house. No man has finer position on either side of the party-dividing aisle. He should have been speaker instead of Mr. Garner and would have been given the position had it not been for some odd business about sections and precedences.

He is now running for the democratic senatorial nomination which, in his state, is equivalent to election. His opponent is Richard Brevard Russell, Georgia's youthful prodigy who describes himself as "judge, orator, publicist." We emphatically do not want in the senate any more boy wonders or other brand of phenomena.

What we want is a straight, intelligent, experienced statesman. Mr. Crisp fills that bill. We hope that the Georgia democrats will send him to the senate.

A Crisis Can't Make Him a Hero Unless He Has a Capacity for Heroism

By Robert Quillen

This is addressed to young people who are confused by the theory of evolution.

There is conclusive evidence that plants and animals can be changed by selective breeding. There is evidence equally conclusive that such changes were made by a natural process long before man began to leave a record of his life on earth. Simple forms of plant and animal life evolved into higher forms. And reason gives assurance that these changes were effected by the influence of climate, natural selection, the survival of the fittest and hard necessity.

So much of the theory of evolution is conceded to be true.

But there is no evidence to indicate that man ever was anything other than man, and reason provides conclusive evidence that the human family must have been a distinct species from the beginning.

Whether man was placed on earth in his present form or began his existence as a germ of life in a drop of ditch water, he has always been man or man-in-the-making and always has differed from all other living creatures.

The logic of it is so clear and unmistakable that a child can understand it.

Throughout the whole scheme of the universe, effect follows cause. Conditions of today were made inevitably by the conditions of yesterday, and yesterday was the product of the day before, and so on back to the beginning.

The oak tree is but an acorn fully developed. Every leaf and twig of the tree existed in the acorn. The acorn, and the acorn alone, has within itself the capacity to become an oak—and to become nothing else.

As a chicken is in one egg and a duck in another, beyond possibility of change, so the man of today must have been in any previous form of life from which he developed.

Consider the brain center that enables man to speak. No other creature possesses it. Yet man as a tadpole, if ever he was a tadpole, must have possessed the capacity to develop it—else he couldn't have it now.

Parents can't transmit something they haven't got. Man as he is affords proof that his first parentage gave him the capacity to become as he is.

Whatever man may have been, he must always have been distinct from all other creatures; for the oak tree can have no possibilities except those given to it by the acorn, and all trees would be oaks if other seeds had the acorn's capacities.

Georgia Heroes Of the World War

By Sergeant L. E. Jaeckel
(All Rights Reserved.)

ERNEST C. WILLIAMS, captain, Sixth regiment, United States marine corps, second division, American Expeditionary Force, awarded the Navy Cross for extraordinary heroism and distinguished services in action with the enemy during the Champagne Marne offensive, France, August, 1918.

As battalion commander, second battalion, Sixth regiment, United States marine corps, this gallant officer led his battalion with bravery and skill, obtaining all his objectives on time, keeping his troops close to the barrage and through heavy machine gun and artillery fire from the enemy.

After reorganizing the third objective he again pushed forward strong patrols for exploitation, securing and maintaining a strong line for the night and two succeeding days. His personal example of fearlessness and heroism was a source of inspiration and an incentive to all the men of his command.

Senators Will Seek Coal Field Inquiries

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(AP)—Early in the next session of congress another attempt will be made to win senate approval for an investigation of conditions in the coal fields of Harlan and Bell counties, Kentucky.

Senators Costigan, democrat, Ohio, and Cutting, republican, New Mexico, authors of a resolution calling for the inquiry by a senatorial committee, expect to press for its consideration shortly after the session opens.

The two are members with senator Hatfield, republican, West Virginia, of the manufacturers subcommittee that held extensive hearings on a resolution of inquiry. They favored an inquiry, Hatfield disagreed.

NEW AIR EXPRESS STARTS AUGUST 1

by General Air Express and Postal Telegraph in this hook-up.

This is regarded in aviation circles as the most important development in air transportation since the beginning of air passenger service two years ago. It is generally conceded that air express will develop into the most important phase of this industry and in developing it will automatically assist passenger and U. S. air-mail services to grow. It is the first time the several airlines have combined their facilities in air express services.

With both day and night planes operating over the route it is estimated that the distance between the cities most remote from each other will be covered in less than 30 hours. American Airways supplies air express channels between Atlanta and mid-west, southwest and far west cities, and between Boston and Los Angeles. Eastern Air Transport opens these channels between Atlanta, Richmond, Washington and New York, and Atlanta, Jacksonville and Miami, Fla.

Individual shipments up to 200 pounds will be accepted for air transportation, with special arrangements available for heavier shipments. Rates are low, it was announced, an example being that a 10-pound package may be flown from New York to Miami, Fla., at a cost of $5.60.

4 SENATE GROUPS LAUNCH INQUIRIES AS SUMMER WORK

necessary hearings would be held during the summer and the chief work would be collecting evidence for hearings next winter.

Stock Exchange Probe.

In announcing the committee, Norbeck called for federal legislation to curb "abuses" on the stock exchange. Failure of the stock exchange itself and New York state to act, Norbeck said, left the burden up to congress. He proposed more publicity and regulation either of the exchange or corporations listing their stock on it.

Couzens spent two and a half hours going over the books of the Reconstruction Corporation, but his only comment was that he had found "nothing wrong."

He would not discuss what loans he had studied, but before going said he wanted to look into the $80,000,000 advance to the Dawes bank in Chicago and other big transactions.

After a meeting of the farm board committee, Chairman McNary said he would employ two or three investigators to look into the activities of the grain exchanges and books of cotton and grain corporations.

A detailed report has been received already, he said, from the farm board on its activities.

record for the period to more than 150.

Of these deaths, more than 40 were in southern states where temperatures higher than 100 degrees have been recorded daily since July 9. There has been an average of 15 drownings and heat deaths daily since that date, a record corresponding closely to the "death calendar" during the early days of the tragic summer of 1930.

Thus far, the present heat wave has been beneficial to crops, according to reports from the various farming communities. Unless a break comes soon, however, serious property damage is believed inevitable.

In most of the states around the Great Lakes the wave was broken Saturday and there was rain but began again on Monday. So far, no serious water shortages have been reported. It was pointed out, however, by crop experts today that the trend is so closely following that of 1930 that the threat is becoming serious.

The present "heat belt" extends from the states just east of the Rocky mountains to the Atlantic seaboard and from the southern border to the Canadian line.

PRUSSIA HEADED FOR DICTATORSHIP

papers conjecture that he will be Lord Mayor Franz Bracht, of Essen, a member of the centrist party and the state secretary in the chancellory of Dr. Wilhelm Marx.

The commissioner will serve until the regular government can be constituted. His appointment will mean the removal of the present Prussian cabinet. With the aid of the various state bureaus, he alone will govern Prussia's 38,000,000 inhabitants.

AUSTRIAN CABINET EXPECTED TO FALL

VIENNA, July 19.—(AP)—Unless eleventh-hour negotiations can pacify the opposition, Chancellor Engelberg Dollfus and his government are almost certain to fall when he faces parliament tomorrow to report on the recent League of Nations loan.

The mixed committee of the league reported on July 15 that a concerted loan of 300,000,000 schillings, currently about $42,000,000, had been arranged for Austria. France and Great Britain would be the largest participants, contributing 100,000,000 schillings each.

The opposition is confident of defeating ratification of the Geneva loan and simultaneously the cabinet on the basis of a pre-parliament canvass.

The press of all shades, the socialist and Pan-German papers is vehemently denouncing the chancellor as "selling Austria's liberty and independence" for another 20 years for a mere 300,000,000 schillings.

personal appeal and they would capitalize on this by letting as many people as possible see them.

The governor's speaking trips are expected to begin shortly after August 1, but the big swings likely will be held off until September and October. Mr. Roosevelt will not complete speaking arrangements until after the national organization begins to function.

Awaits Walker's Reply.

The governor today was still awaiting the reply he requested of Mayor Walker to the Seabury charges, and which had been expected here early this week.

There was speculation on Capitol Hill concerning what, if any, steps Mr. Roosevelt might take if the reply were not soon forthcoming. One group believed he might make a formal demand on Walker, if the reply were not delivered by Monday.

Mr. Roosevelt had hoped to attend the Olympic games at Los Angeles next month, perhaps making a speech or two en route and returning, but political advisers have counselled against the California trip until after the primary election on August 30. The Olympic games end on August 14.

In the race for the senatorial nomination are William Gibbs McAdoo, key figure in the sweep to Roosevelt at the Chicago convention, and Justus Wardell, a Roosevelt supporter in the New York governor's contest with Speaker Garner and former Governor Smith for the state delegation.

It was recalled that Charles Evans Hughes went to California before the primary of 1916, alienated the Hiram Johnson faction and lost the state to Woodrow Wilson in November.

At any rate, Mr. Roosevelt's journeys will be held up until after he disposes of the Mayor Walker case. He now is awaiting Walker's reply to ouster efforts.

Economies Recommended.

Governor Roosevelt assured his tax-paying public today that he is going to make "some very substantial recommendations" for economies in the state government before he goes out of office at the end of this year.

The executive's promise was made through the medium of some two hundred representatives of tax-paying organizations and chambers of commerce, gathered with him for a conference on ways of cutting down the cost of government.

A plan was evolved to create a "central committee," representing cross sections of the state's industry and home owners. The committee, once formed, will study with the state's fiscal experts the machinery of government and its functions, with the idea of dispensing with some of the numerous activities of the state.

Mr. Roosevelt indicated that one of his objectives for the economy campaign might be found in the $103,000,000 budget for the state department of education, a figure representing approximately forty per cent of the total budget.

GOVERNOR ELY TO ISSUE STATEMENT THIS WEEK

BOSTON, July 19.—(AP)—Governor Joseph B. Ely said today he would issue a statement regarding his political plans some time this week.

Since the defeat of Alfred E. Smith, for whom he made a nomination speech in the democratic national convention, Governor Ely has refused to disclose what part he would play in the campaign of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, the party nominee.

"I will have something to say, but not before the end of the week," Governor Ely said, in reply to a question on the subject.

Last week he told democratic state committee members not to try to interpret his attitude toward Governor Roosevelt pending his announcement.

Governor Ely was bitterly disappointed in the defeat of Smith, and this, coupled with the belief that he was not over-anxious to be a candidate for re-election, has caused much speculation in political circles regarding his future activities.

ECONOMY AND TAXATION FEATURED MONTANA ISSUES

HELENA, Mont., July 19.—(AP)—A democratic gubernatorial race concerned with economy and taxation matters featured today's Montana primary election.

Governor John E. Erickson faced a stiff contest for the nomination. He is opposed by Lewis Penwell, Helena sheepman; Miles Romney, Hamilton publisher, and Harry B. Mitchell, Great Falls dairyman.

Penwell, who sponsored the formation of many taxpayers' associations throughout the state, expected their support and established a weekly newspaper in Helena to aid his campaign. Romney has been an active figure in democratic politics for years, as has Mitchell. The latter is a former Great Falls mayor and unsuccessful candidate for congress in the eastern district.

Other contests, actively pursued, provided interest in all but four of the major state and congressional places at stake.

Montana elects no United States senator this year. Congressman Scott Leavitt, republican, in the second district, is unopposed.

Congressman John M. Evans, democrat, in the first district, again is facing a young Butte attorney, Joseph P. Monahan, who came within a few votes of eliminating the veteran legislator in the primaries two years ago.

Two candidates, Roye E. Ayres, of Lewistown, and James F. O'Connor, of Livingston, are seeking the eastern district democratic nomination. Both are attorneys.

Mark D. Fitzgarrald, Stevensville dairyman, is unopposed for the western or first district republican congressional nomination.

Republican candidates for governor include Frank A. Zelbaker, Dillon stockman and present lieutenant governor, and W. S. McCormack, of Kalispell. McCormack preceded Zelbaker as lieutenant governor.

VICIOUS EXTRAVAGANCE LAID AT HOOVER'S DOOR.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(AP)—President Hoover was accused of "wicked and vicious extravagance" in a statement given out today by Senator McKellar (democrat, Tennessee), charging that government appropriations during the session of congress just ended aggregated over $9,000,000,000, instead of $4,000,000,000 as reported by the appropriations committee.

"During the entire session," he said, "Mr. Hoover has been prating about 'rigid economy,' and yet he has recommended all these appropriations and more. The congress did not appropriate all that he recommended, but at all events, it aggregates $9,156,829,627.

"If this is economy, Mr. Hoover is entitled to it. I sa it is wicked and vicious extravagance."

To make up the aggregate, McKellar gave these as appropriations, besides the $3,800,000,000 capital limit of the Reconstruction Corporation:

ROOSEVELT WILL CARRY NORTH CAROLINA—REYNOLDS

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP)—A prediction that Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt will carry North Carolina, which went for Herbert Hoover in 1928, was made today by Robert R. Reynolds, democratic nominee for senator from that state.

Reynolds, who defeated Senator Cameron Morrison by a record primary majority of 107,000, also expressed the belief that his state would ratify an amendment repealing the 18th if it were presented. Reynolds won his nomination as an advocate of repeal.

He conferred today with James A. Farley, chairman of the democratic national committee, and plans to see him again later this week. Next Monday he and several other North Carolina democrats will call on Governor Roosevelt at Albany.

GARNER LOSES NO TIME BEGINNING VACATION

UVALDE, Texas, July 19.—(AP)—Speaker John Nance Garner turned out at sunup today for horseback rides through the brushy cattle ranges around Uvalde, then cantered home to putter with tackle he intends using on a fishing trip soon.

Meantime, Mrs. Garner, who acts as his secretary, spent a busy day answering the many telegrams which followed him home from Washington.

"Cactus Jack" seemed none the worse for his tiresome journey, or the nine speeches he delivered at waypoints through Texas. Although the Garner train didn't reach Uvalde until near midnight last night, both were up at dawn.

HOOVER'S NOTIFICATION TO BE HELD IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(AP)—Any possibility that President Hoover might combine politics, governmental duties and pleasure in a swing out to the west coast to open the Olympic games today was definitely ended.

Concurrently with an announcement that the president had selected the national capital as the spot for the formal notification of his nomination, Mr. Hoover named Vice President Curtis to represent him as head of the nation in opening the tenth Olympiad in Los Angeles, July 30.

The chief executive set the date of his notification ceremonies tentatively between August 8 and 15.

Naming the vice president was interpreted as almost certainly precluding a trip by the president to California, his home state, during the campaign.

ALABAMA REPUBLICANS NAME ELECTORS SATURDAY

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 19.—(AP)—The state republican executive committee will meet here Saturday to nominate presidential electors and candidates for state offices in the November election.

SMEDLEY BUTLER QUITS CAMPAIGN FOR SENATE

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 19.—(AP) General Smedley D. Butler today withdrew as prohibition candidate for the United States senate.

Defeated by Senator James J. Davis for the republican nomination, at the April primary, Butler was nominated by the prohibition party by a sufficient number of members writing his name on the ballot.

Butler recently announced he would support Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, democratic nominee for president.

REPUBLICANS OF IOWA INDORSE PARTY PLATFORM

DES MOINES, July 19.—(AP)—Indorsement of the national platform, including the proposed referendum on prohibition, was recommended today by the resolutions committee of the Iowa republican convention.

Chicago Police to Adopt 'One Way' Tear Bomb

CHICAGO, July 23.—(AP)—A "one-way" tear gas bomb, which cannot be thrown back by the intended target, is to be added to Chicago's police weapons.

The new missile renders the victim hors de combat within 24 seconds. The old type bomb required four minutes. It could be boomeranged back at the police in the interval.

Girl 'Taken for Ride' But Refuses To Talk

WOODMERE, N. Y., July 19.—(AP) A smartly-dressed girl of 21 was "taken for a ride" early today and as she lay, apparently dying, in St. Joseph's hospital she repulsed detectives' attempts to find out who shot her.

"Go away and let me sleep," she said. "I'm not going to die."

The girl, who said she was Rose Wasserstein, was shot while in an automobile and was dragged 35 feet to a clump of bushes.

Couples parked in automobiles near Woodmere dock, not far from Long Beach, Long Island, said a small car pulled up, parked a moment and then several shots were heard.

A bullet passed through the young woman's head, behind the ears, and another was believed imbedded in her jaw. A detective sergeant said there was no doubt she was "taken for a ride."

lard Chase, 22, Alexandria Bay, a driller's helper.

The nine injured were in hospitals at Ogdensburg and Brockville, Ont., most of them with leg injuries. Ankles were crushed and legs broken as the explosion hurled the deck of the America skyward beneath the drill crew.

The America, owned by the R. D. Huffman Construction Company, of Cleveland, was removing rock from the Federal channel, less than 10 miles from the spot where a Canadian government boat blew up in 1930 with the loss of 31 lives.

Thousands of natives and summer residents of the fashionable Thousand Islands hurried to the scene in automobiles and motorboats, drawn by the concussion which thundered down the valley.

The cause of the explosion was not known, but as the injured were brought ashore one survivor said he thought the "loader," used for packing the dynamite, had fallen on the cap which would have discharged the dynamite later when the boat had been towed to a safe distance.

SOCIAL WELFARE BODY SEEKS FEDERAL FUNDS

Group Calls on Governor Russell and Recommends State Program.

Preparation for Georgia's participation in the relief funds made available by the federal aid bill passed Saturday was urged upon Governor Russell by a group of Atlanta social workers representing the Social Welfare Council, who met him in executive offices for a conference on the subject Tuesday afternoon.

In a formal statement the group suggested that the relief funds so obtained be administered through the state department of public welfare, with its facilities and experience in effective welfare work, and recommended the following program:

1. An early survey of actual need in Georgia, to be made by the department of public welfare.

2. That the difference between available local and state resources (in both public and private agencies) and the actual needs to be made a bdsis of any requests for federal aid, and that need only shall be the guiding principle of the requests.

3. That the department of public welfare use as its agents the existing organized relief agencies, both public and private, selecting the best organized and most efficient agencies available in each community.

4. That all aid be given in the homes of the unemployed unless the persons involved are homeless.

5. That aid be given on the basis of the specific need of each individual case after suitable investigation in line with sound relief practices.

6. That work relief programs be carefully planned and include only necessary constructive work, with allowances in line with prevailing wages, thus making additional direct relief unnecessary; and that work relief be adequately supervised and preference given those with dependents.

Members of the group included Dr. J. R. McCain, president of Agnes Scott College and president of the council; Walter Dillon, Steve Nance, Horace Russell, the Rev. C. R. Stauffer, G. K. Selden, T. Guy Woolford, Scott Candler, E. M. Kahn, Major J. Arthur Fynn, Dr. Comer Woodward.

PRESIDENT DELAYS SIGNING OF BILL

Governors of another few are undecided as yet; but plans are under way in more than 30 states to utilize both the "destitution loan" and "public construction" monies made availble.

To be administered entirely by the Reconstruction Corporation, the legislation—

Sets up a $1,500,000 fund for loans for public and private construction, out of which regional agricultural credit corporations with a paid-up capital of $3,000,000 will be created and some agricultural exporting will be financed;

Appropriates $322,000,000 for public works, of which $132,000,000 can go to states for loans to match regular federal aid highway funds; and

Allows $300,000,000 for emergency loans to states on certification that the cash is needed to offset destitution, and can't be obtained elsewhere.

Three Seek $45,000,000.

Three states, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Arizona, are out to get the maximum possible under the direct aid fund—$45,000,00. In New York, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt plans to discuss the matter with the state unemployment relief committee Thursday before a decision is made; the expectation in fiscal quarters there being that the Empire State also will seek the maximum.

If that is borne out, the total of direct relief loans already wanted by but 12 of the states exceeds $200,000,000, as follows:

Arizona	$45,000,000
Idaho	1,500,000
Illinois	45,000,000
Indiana	8,000,000
Kansas	2,750,000
Michigan	11,800,000
Missouri	2,000,000
New York	45,000,000
Pennsylvania	45,000,000
Utah	2,000,000
West Virginia	500,000

Governor La Follette, of Wisconsin, will apply, but has yet to decide the amount.

12 Against.

While officials in a number of states still are studying the public building loans and road construction aid it, the legislation, inquiries disclosed that in 12 states a decision already has been made against asking advances for direct relief. These were Florida, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Carolina and Vermont.

No conclusions have been announced in Colorado, Connecticut, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Louisiana, Minnesota, Mississippi, New Mexico, North Carolina, South Dakota, Oregon, Rhode Island, Texas, Virginia and Wyoming—as to the destitution loans.

Some states probably will find restrictions against taking such loans, such as Florida, which is prevented by its constitution from borrowing.

The Reconstruction Corporation has determined there will be no red tape bindings on these loans. Officials said governors and anyone else eligible can forward applications to Washington instead of to district officers of the corporation. These applications will be taken up as soon as possible.

The usual procedure in reconstruction loans heretofore has been to file applications at one of the 33 district offices. There the security was examined and the application forwarded to Washington with a report.

Many states are unable to match federal highway funds. To make up for this, the act permits states to borrow from the corporation and pay it back out of federal aid funds to be appropriated over a period of 5 or more years.

Governor Russell, of Georgia, will ask $3,100,000 and Wyoming plans to seek $2,000,000 for highways; while Arkansas intends to request a $2,750,000 loan for that purpose along with $350,000 to complete a state insane asylum, if possible.

North Carolina, while a study goes on as to what is needed for direct relief, will seek $2,800,000 for roads.

In Virginia, Governor Pollard plans a detailed study before making arrangements. The highways department there estimated $5,900,000 available for road work.

While he has not worked out the details, Governor Allen, of Louisiana, will probably seek a loan to continue that state's highway and bridge construction program.

In New York, the Fifth Avenue Association today started a movement to have the city borrow from the corporation to complete the Tri-Borough bridge and start work on a vehicular tunnel under the East river from 38th street, Manhattan. The tunnel would cost $80,000,000 and the bridge a total of $37,000,000.

LOS ANGELES, July 19.—(AP)—A second divorce today separated Ian Keith, film actor, and Ethel Clayton, film actress. In both suits Miss Clayton accused Keith of cruelty and excessive use of liquor.

1 DEAD, MANY HURT IN LABOR BATTLE

Union Men and Non-Union Workers Fight With Guns, Clubs, Fists.

MARSEILLES, Ill., July 19.—(AP) One man was killed today, three were injured critically and a score of others bruised, beaten or slightly wounded as union and non-union workers fought with shotguns, clubs and fists at an Illinois waterway dam under construction here.

Contracting company officials said the trouble grew out of attempts by union men to unionize workers already employed on the "open-shop" job. The union workers, of whom the man killed was one, denied the charge and insisted they went to the dam, peaceably and unarmed, to seek work.

A company of state militia from Ottawa, Ill., was standing by tonight, special deputy sheriffs had been sworn in and a state highway patrolman was watching proceedings. Local authorities said, however, the situation was "temporarily under control," and no help was needed.

Attempts were started by union men yesterday, contracting company representatives said, to picket the job and halt work by unorganized labor. Charges also were made that a group of non-union men employed on the job were manhandled as they went to work this morning.

The actual battle broke out when a mob of 200 or more attempted to drag W. H. Miller, superintendent on the job, from his automobile as he approached the dam at noon. Union men said they wanted to confer with Miller and meant him no harm.

The man killed was Steve Sutton, 45, an unemployed union steel worker from Joliet. Three other union men were near death tonight in a hospital at Ottawa. They are Cecil Hopton, Frank Chabers and Ernest Sons, all of Marseilles.

HUNGER MARCHERS AT INDIANA CAPITOL

INDIANAPOLIS, July 19.—(AP)—A group calling themselves "hunger marchers" paraded around the Indiana state capitol today, bearing a red flag and finally succeeded in sending a spokesman before the house of the general assembly, which is now in special session.

The main body of marchers, estimated by police to number several hundred, was barred from entering the statehouse but they assembled on the steps immediately below the house chamber and listened to an address by Zip Kotch, of Gary, one of their number.

The "hunger marchers" began assembling here last Sunday, delegations coming from different parts of the state in trucks and private automobiles.

After their spokesman had addressed the house the marchers paraded about the city and finally disbanded without disorder. The marchers carried banners on which were inscribed demands for unemployment relief.

Wenzell Stocker, of Hammond, selected as the speaker to address the representatives, said that in the Calumet district in northern Indiana, "mass starvation and suicide" will result unless the legislature appropriates $25,000,000 for unemployment relief.

Manchurians Prepare For New Jap Attack

PEIPING, July 19.—(AP)—Foreign military observers declared today that hostilities on a large scale may develop between the Chinese and Japanese in the province of Jehol and perhaps involving northern China.

Tientsin reports today told of the movement of 20 trainloads of troops that belonged to the old Manchurian regime northward from their Chinese concentration camps toward positions in which they might defend Jehold from the Japanese.

For a month there have been reports that the state of Manchoukuo (now the government of Manchuria) had decided to start a drive against Marshal Chang Hsiao-liang, Chinese military commander, on the ground that so-called Chinese volunteers operating against Manchoukuo in the area of Chinchow included numerous Chinese regulars acting under Chang's orders.

DEMONSTRATION BY VETS BALKED

ed in connection with a demonstration in front of the White House Saturday night, delivered there a petition asking for the reconvening of congress to pass a bonus bill.

Ledoux asw one of Mr. Hoover's secretaries. He said he told him unless Mr. Hoover took action within 24 hours, he would seek to have the bonus army picket the White House.

With the Anacostia river for a sounding board and a flaming sunset as a background, Major General Smedley D. Butler tonight roared encouragement to the veterans.

"Every man who ever wore the uniform of the United States is different from other people—you are better," he shouted as a beginning.

The ragged crowd of former soldiers yelled its approval.

Butler took off his coat, rolled up his sleeves and opened his collar while he was being introduced by W. W. Waters, commander of the faction of the bonus army the retired marine officer addressed.

"I would walk across the continent to associate with soldiers," he told the crowd, "and soldiers you certainly are. You are the best behaved segment of society in America today. You are as disciplined as any army."

He urged the men to hang together, even when they went home from their Washington visit.

"If you don't hang together," he shouted, "you aren't worth a damn."

"If you do go home," he added, "keep your leaders here to look out for your interests and when you get home go to the polls in November and lick those who are against you. You know who they are."

CURTIS WILLING TO REOPEN HUNT

Attorney Pictures 'Hoax' Author as Ready To Renew 'Contacts.'

FLEMINGTON, N. J., July 19.—(AP)—Eagerness to throw himself into a renewed search for the Lindbergh baby's kidnapers was attributed today to John Hughes Curtis, who was convicted of obstructing the hunt.

The announcement was made by Lloyd Fisher, the Virginia boat builder's attorney, as he made plans for a fight to set aside the verdict against his client.

He represented Curtis as "anxious to bring about the kidnapers' apprehension," and pointed out that Curtis had repeatedly repudiated an alleged confession that all his previous work on the case was part of a hoax.

"Curtis is willing to pick up his old clues again," Fisher said. "He has no animosity toward Colonel Lindbergh. He still feels very kindly toward him."

The only thing holding the shipbuilder from renewed activity in the hunt, Fisher said, was his lack of funds.

"If Curtis is supplied with money, he will undertake the search immediately," the lawyer added. "He wouldn't hesitate except that he is absolutely broke."

While this announcement was being made, Curtis himself returned to Norfolk, Va., to assist friends in raising funds for an appeal of his sentence of one year's imprisonment and a $1,000 fine. He is at liberty on $10,000 bail furnished unexpectedly yesterday. He refused any statement.

As he was reunited with his wife, whom he had not seen since he left Norfolk on May 7 with Colonel Lindbergh, Curtis appeared cheerful, but showed the effects of his months of confinement. Mrs. Curtis was reported as confined to bed.

Puryear, accused of the ax slayings of his wife and daughter and the murder of a negro on whom he sought to place blame for the crimes, was denied today by Circuit Judge A. B. Pittman. 'Torture Victim' Named By 'Sweat-Box' Prober

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 19.—(UP)—Inquiry into alleged brutality in Florida prison camps assumed a broader aspect tonight with announcement of Al F. Gorman, foreman of the Duval county grand jury, that he had received information leading to the belief that a second convict had been tortured until he died.

Gorman's jury already has indicted two prison camp guards, Captain W. G. Courson and Guard Sol Higginbotham, of Sunbeam camp, for the "sweat box" death of Arthur Mailefert, 19, but the foreman tonight said he had information indicating Frank Powell, 37, of Miami, son of W. J. Powell, met a brutal death at Raiford state penitentiary.

"The authorities said when Powell died his death was due to heart failure," the foreman said, "but Powell's father said he examined his son's body and found what appeared to be signs of a terrific beating."

Since the alleged brutality involving Powell occurred in Bradford county, Gorman's grand jury lacks jurisdiction in the case. State's Attorney Charles M. Durrance, of Duval county, told the United Press the jury of which Gorman is foreman has completed its inquiry, officially, into prison camp torture "and I have nothing more to say."

S. C. TOBACCO 'CO-OP' WILL NOT OPERATE

FLORENCE, S. C., July 19.—(AP)—Dr. M. D. Nesmith, president of the South Carolina Tobacco Growers' Marketing Association, announced here today the organization will not operate this year.

Dr. Nesmith said this decision was made "after a careful investigation of the wishes of our membership and for other good reasons."

"The association still holds around 12,000,000 pounds of tobacco out of 18,000,000 pounds of the total delivery," he said. "Much of this stock consists of low grades."

SEVEN PERSONS HURT IN THREE ACCIDENTS

Atlantan's Skull Fractured, Wife Badly Hurt in Ambulance-Motorcycle Crash.

Seven persons were treated at Grady hospital Tuesday night for injuries sustained in three automobile accidents in and near the city, according to hospital reports.

W. D. Robinson, of 303 Williams street, received a fractured skull and his wife was seriously injured late Tuesday night when the motorcycle they were riding together was struck at Edgewood avenue and Ivy street by a Collins & Davis ambulance, of Austell, which was bringing three persons injured in an accident there to Grady hospital for treatment.

Clifford Collins, driver of the ambulance, was charged with reckless driving by police and his bond was set at $500. According to police reports, Collins was driving down Edgewood avenue and struck the motorcycle as it turned off Ivy street. He did not stop, police asserted. Collins said he did not know anyone was hurt. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were taken to the hospital by passersby

In the Collins ambulance were Miss Jewell Locklear, of 1440 Park avenue, Atlanta; Miss Bell Braswell, of St. Petersburg, Fla., and J. T. Grand Jury To Hear Al Capone's Brother

CHICAGO, July 19.—(AP)—John Capone, another member of Chicago's notorious gangster family, today was ordered to appear before a federal grand jury considering evidence against the Capone liquor syndicate.

Arrested with $4,300 in cash in his pockets, Capone has been held by Chicago police on disorderly conduct charges and was taken today before Assistant United States District Attorney Daniel Anderson for questioning.

Assuming an uncommunicative air often used by his older brothers, Al and Ralph, the younger Capone said he had just returned from Florida, and that he had been in the automobile business until four years ago, but refused to answer questions about his present business.

After a half-hour conference with the prisoner, Anderson said he would be taken before the grand jury tomorrow.

Reports were current that the government had mapped a program to put out of business the $10,000,000-a-year liquor syndicate, conducted by less-prominent gangsters since Al and Ralph Capone went to prison for income tax violations.

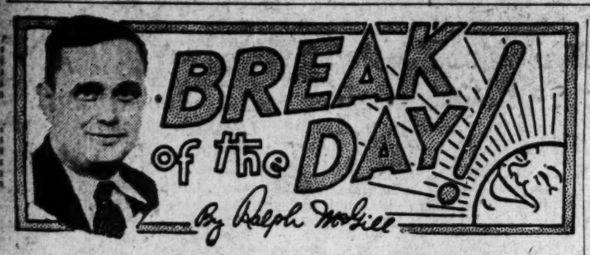
FOXX HITS 39TH HOME RUN AS A'S WIN TWICE



Dat Old Debbil, Machine, Makes Our Track Records Look Phoney

It begins to look as if we shall have to date all our track records of previous years as antiques and begin all over again.

Ever since grandpa experimented with a shell game at the circus it has been said that the hand is quicker than the eye. And it begins to look as if the judges at our track meets for the past half century have been squeezing their clocks a fraction of a second or so before the athlete's heaving chest actually touched the tape, as they call the piece of yarn string across the track.

Dat old debil, the machine, has stepped into our life again with an electrical camera which records the exact time (and no foolin') and the exact finish. And no foolin' again. There is no guessing about it. The clock does not have to take the time from three or four more clocks and add them up and divide to get the answer.

Reports from Palo Alto (It would happen in Herb Hoover's home town!) show that William Carr's record, timed by the human hand squeezing a gadget on a stop watch, was a new world's record of 46.9 for the 400-meter dash.

The camera clocks showed it to be 47.11, which was not a record at all if we take the old record of 47 flat caught by the human hand and eye.

There is no way to get around the clock. It can't be refuted because it is scientifically correct. Not only does it record the time, but it also records the finishes so that there can be no dispute about the close finishes which now and then stimulate the boys who wear the badges.

It begins to look as if all our old records were phoney. The electrical timing devices for auto racing at the 500-mile speedway at Indianapolis have been in use for some time. The machine doesn't get excited or twittery about the hands as some of the officials do.

THE BADGE WEARERS.

The machine is probably in for a very hard time of it, however, as one of the things the boys like best is wearing badges. It was said that at the winter Olympic games at Saranac Lake there were more badge wearers in the parade of the athletes than there were athletes.

The machine would lower the number of badge wearers considerably, and this would also reduce the Olympic budget, with which they had such a difficult time. So much so, indeed, that some of the more wealthy athletes, or athletes with wealthy parents, are paying their own expenses. But the badge wearers will resist to the last piece of ribbon and stamped celluloid. The machine won't have a chance for a while.

But it immediately appears that our old records have at least a suspicion resting against them. The fool-proof electric clocks and cameras are giving us a new light on the speed of the human feet, or dogs. But the badge wearers won't care for the light.

BABE DIDRIKSON.

Quite the most remarkable athlete to appear in the Olympic trials was Miss Didrikson, of Dallas, Texas, a young lady who scorns the "Miss" and asks to be called simply "Babe."

Her pictures reveal her to be a thin-jawed young lady of determined mien. They took some pictures of her after her several triumphs, showing her looking at soft feminine dresses and things. And she looked quite out of place and no doubt felt it. There was an excellent story out of Dallas concerning the efforts to persuade her to wear a hat to the Chicago trials. She is a clerk in an insurance office in Dallas.

Babe Didrikson was entered in eight events and won three places on the Olympic team in addition to winning several events which were strictly A. A. U. events. She won the 80-meter hurdles, tied for first place in the high jump, outclassed the field in the baseball throw, won the shot-put, flung the javelin to a new world's record and won the broad jump.

She seems to be a sort of feminine Dizzy Dean or "What-a-Man" Shires, in that she announces in advance what she will do. Having announced it, and done it at Chicago, she now announces that the American girls will make the visiting girls very sorry indeed that they left their home shores.

A very remarkable girl, Babe Didrikson. In addition to these sports she is a star basketball player. A most remarkable girl.

DALLAS UP IN ARMS.

Dallas is up in arms against the A. A. U. and seems to have made out a pretty fair case. The A. A. U. is none too popular at best, which may make most of the cases against that body look good.

Miss Didrikson, pardon me, Babe Didrikson, had announced in advance that she would lick the entire strength of the mid-west teams. It was for that reason she entered eight events.

Dallas claims that when she entered that many events, the A. A. U. ordered all events run on one day and told the coach for Miss Didrikson that if he did not like it he could go jump in the lake. No other girls were entered in as many events and so it was, whether intentional or not, discrimatory against the Dallas girl. Dallas also claims the A. A. U. representatiyes not only told him they would run the meet as they pleased, but hinted that Miss Didrikson was just a country girl and that to avoid humiliation it would be best to have her drop out of a few events.

But the Babe "learned" them, so to speak, beating entire teams and winning the individual track championship of the world.

Miss Didrikson is 19 years of age and is not so much of an Amazon as would appear. A short time ago she had a tiff with her employers and resigned, later to appear like Niobe, all tears, and ask for forgiveness.

I suspect she has rather won, or will win, the hearts of all who follow the matches. She seems a swashbuckling sort of feminine D'Artagnon.

Legion Team Plays Young Men's Team

A real grudge battle between the East Point American Legion baseball team and the Young Men's business league team, will be fought out today at the Eagan Park diamond.

Last week the Young Men's team won from the Legion 4 to 3 in 14 innings. It was a real ball game with few errors and lots of sparkling play. No admission will be charged and all fans are invited.

Coaches Named For Olympic Team

PALO ALTO, Cal., July 19.—(AP)—Track and field coaches from all sections of the country were selected today by Lawson Robertson, head coach of the American Olympic team, to act in an advisory capacity to him from now until termination of the games at Los Angeles.

The list includes Wilbur Hutsell, Alabama Poly, and Bernie Moore, Louisiana State.

BABE'S INJURY ADDS STRENGTH TO PILOT RUMOR

Followers See 50-50 Chance for Ruth To Manage Red Sox.

By Jack Cuddy.

NEW YORK, July 19.—(UP)—The belief is growing in baseball circles that Babe Ruth's latest "Charley horse" will result in his appearance at Fenway park, Boston, as manager of the decrepit Red Sox before next season.

A few weeks ago the plan was suggested casually. Now, with three offers for the Boston club, contingent on Ruth's going back to Fenway, close observers believe there's a 50-50 chance it will come to pass.

Their belief was strengthened by yesterday's injury, which was interpreted in some quarters as a warning by nature that the 38-year-old slugger's playing career is just about over.

Not Discussing Weather.

Moreover, the Babe and Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, had a half-hour consultation after his injury. While the subject of their conversation was not made public, it is not likely they were merely discussing the weather.

One of the offers for the Boston club is reported reliably to have come from the Guggenheims, of copper wealth. Another is understood to have been made by a young Bostonian named Schuster, who recently inherited a fortune. Nothing much has leaked out regarding the third bid.

But it is known definitely that the three potential purchasers regard Mr. Ruth as the Moses who can lead the Red Sox out of the doldrums, financial and otherwise.

Colonel Ruppert, who, incidentally, holds a mortgage on the Boston plant, commented on the matter today as follows: "I know nothing about it." This is an interview which the good colonel keeps wrapped up and ready for use at all times.

Recently the Babe announced that he would retire in 1934, after playing two more seasons with the Yanks, and become manager of a club, if possible.

HOPES HE WILL.

Ruppert said today he didn't know whether the Babe would be able to play ball two more years, but "I certainly hope he will. He's still the greatest drawing card in the game—and a great fellow."

The colonel made light of Ruth's pulled muscle. He said a player was likely to get a "Charley horse" any time if he pulled up too short after a run, regardless of his age. "It's not significant in the least."

Meanwhile, George Herman remained at his apartment today listening to the radio, reading the papers, and keeping an electric pad adjusted to his right thigh. He will go over to the Yankee clubhouse tomorrow for a treatment.

"It looks as if I'll be out about a week or 10 days," the big fellow said. "I guess the doctors are right. If I try to get back o nthe field too quickly, I'm liable to hurt it again."

The Babe injured the leg yesterday chasing a short fly in the game with the Chicago White Sox.

J. HALVERSTADT IN THIRD ROUND

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 19.—(AP)—Seeded stars came through in fine style here today and the third round of play in the North Carolina open tennis tournament at the Biltmore Forest Country Club was reached without an upset in the ranks.

Frankie Parker, top seeded flash, had an idle day, but Teddy Burwell, seeded No. 2, engaged in his first and second-round contests without mishap. In the first round he defeated Reeves Rutledge, of Asheville, 6-0, 6-1, and a few hours later trimmed Doc Barr, Dallas ace, almost as handily, 6-2, 6-3.

Ramsey Potts, of Memphis, ranking boy star, gave Jim Halverstadt, Atlanta, plenty of opposition before falling, 8-6, 8-6.

Robert Bryan, Chattanooga, could not reach here in time for matches today and will have a full day ahead of him tomorrow—four matches being scheduled.

Karl Hodge, St. Louis, something of a "dark horse," took a morning match by default and then trimmed young Alan Smith, prominent Asheville golfer, in a second-round engagement, 6-2, 6-0.

Men's doubles play will start tomorrow together with women's singles.

First-round results included:

Bill Child, Spartanburg, S. C., defeated R. J. Fletcher, Hartsville, S. C., 6-1, 6-1.

Tom Humphrey, Richmond, Va., defeated Harley Shuford, Hickory, N. C., by default.

Lenoir Wright, Charlotte, defeated Dick Hamel, Atlanta, 6-4, 6-4.

Perre Kennedy, Spartanburg, defeated John Frost, Charleston, S. C., 2-6, 6-2, 8-6.

Teddy Burwell, Charlotte, defeated Reeves Rutledge, Asheville, 6-0, 6-1.

Doc Barr, Dallas, defeated Louis Fisher, Asheville, 6-0, 6-1.

Sheppard Shushan, New Orleans, defeated Wiley Van Wagner, Louisville, by default.

Second round results included:

Ted Burwell, Charlotte, defeated Doc Barr, Dallas, 6-2, 6-3.

Jimmy Halverstadt, Atlanta, defeated Ramsey Potts, Memphis, 8-6, 8-6.

Karl Hodge, St. Louis, defeated Alan Smith, Asheville, 6-2, 6-0.

Bob Lassiter, Charlotte, defeated Sheppard Shushan, New Orleans, 6-1, 8-6.

John McDiarmid, Fort Worth, defeated F. B. Wilkins, Mars Hill, N. C., 6-3, 6-0.

Ray White, Miami, Fla., defeated Bill Child, Spartanburg, 6-1, 6-3.

George Rogers, Asheville, defeated Tom Humphrey, Richmond, 7-5, 6-3.

Equipoise Faces Staggering Load For $20,000 Race

CHICAGO, July 19.—(AP)—If he is sent out to try for the $20,000 added Arlington Handicap Saturday, Equipoise, the 4-year-old whirlwind from C. V. Whitney's stables, must carry the staggering load of 134 pounds.

With victories in the Stars and Stripes and gold cup features at Arlington Park already his, the track handicapper has assigned him top weight and plenty of it for the mile and a quarter test.

Gusto, the 3-year-old champion, will carry 116 pounds, 18 less than the Whitney thoroughbred, while Tred Avon, which finished second to Equipoise in the Stars and Stripes, was allotted 115 pounds. Top Flight, the lady member of the Whitney team, gets in with 109 pounds. Stepenfetchit, second to Gusto in the Classic last Saturday, drew 108. Pittsburgher was assigned 105 pounds.

BILLY REESE BEATS BROWN IN THIRD ROUND

Defender in City Singles Enters Quarter-Final Round.

By Roy White.

Billy Reese, the defending champion, advanced to the quarter-final round of the annual Atlanta tennis championship tournament with two victories Tuesday afternoon. Reese defeated Howard Brown, 6-1, 6-0, on the Tech court and then finished the afternoon with a 6-0, 6-3 win over Mollie Williamson on the Atlanta Tennis Club court.

Rain shortly before 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon caused a postponement of more than an hour of the matches slated for the Tech courts, while several others were transferred to the Tennis Club courts.

Jack Boykin, Harry Gault, former champion, Jack Mooney, and Jack Simpson, other seeded players, also advanced to the quarter-finals with Tuesday victories, while three singles matches and all the doubles were postponed until this afternoon.

WINS EASILY.

Reese after losing the first game to Brown had little trouble in winning the remaining games of the two sets and then eliminated Williamson with a consistent game in every department. Williamson rallied a bit near the end to run his total to three games.

Gault had another hard battle with Malcolm Manley, one of the best youngsters in the city. It was one of the longest matches of the afternoon and was played on the tennis club court with Gault winning out, 6-3, 6-1.

Jack Simpson, another seeded player, was extended to win out, 6-2, 6-2, over W. M. Brannon, who staged a great rally late Tuesday in the second round. Brannon ran Simpson all over the court but the veteran settled down to a steady placement game and won out.

MOONEY WINS.

Jack Mooney eliminated Bud Lindsey, a University of Georgia tennis player, 6-3, 6-2, in another interesting match, on the Tech court. Mooney, the chop-stroke specialist, placed his drives consistently to win out in a long battle.

Jack Boykin played the longest match of the afternoon at Tech when he defeated George French, 4-6, 6-2, 6-1. It was one of the best battles of volleying the ball back and forth of the entire afternoon and was applauded by a large crowd.

Quarter-finals singles will be postponed until Thursday afternoon, it was announced Tuesday by Jack Mooney.

Today's pairings:

THIRD ROUND.

Paul Metz vs. Randolph West.
Tom Tumlin vs. Malon Courts.
Britt Knox vs. Gene Morgan.

DOUBLES.

Bracewell and Lindsey vs. Wynne and Godwin.
Maynard and West vs. Dudley and Williamson.
Hopkins and Corrigan vs. Collins and Adams.
Knox and De Leon vs. Gault and Boykin.
French and Johnson vs. Brannon and Keiser.
Boyer and Wilson vs. Jennings and Crawford.

Fulton Bag Nine To Play Peaches

The Macon baseball team is coming to town again this week to play the strong Fulton Bag team once more. Fulton Bag was the winner in the last contest here, but by a close margin.

The game will be staged at Ponce de Leon park Saturday night of this week.

"Buddy" Hunter, the Macon manager, was in town yesterday making arrangements for the game and, while here, took time to compliment most highly two new men added to his team within the last few days. He says this boy Joe Daniels, a first baseman, is a home run king. And this big left-handed Epps, the University of Georgia sophomore, is a wonder.

Fulton Bag boasts the best team in its history. Fulton has a great batting team, the team average being around .375. There is Emma Tully, Tom Harper, Joe Hill and Marion Tally, a quartet of good pitchers. In the infield will be "Billy" Dodgen, Jimmy Hewell, Louie Matthews, Claud Herren, and Dave Lee. DeWitt Winburn, Buck Milner and "Red Sox" Boyd will play the outfield.

The Fulton Bag management is grateful for the patronage given in the first game. This was largely responsible for making this one possible. There will be a small admission price of 25 cents to defray expenses.

Walter Johnson and Tub Dowda, have been selected as umpires.

Young Dan Sage Sets Course Record

Dan Sage Jr. set an unofficial course record at Ansley Park Tuesday afternoon when he carded a 29, five strokes under par. He was playing with W. C. Caye and was eight up, despite Caye's 37, three over par.

Sage recently set the course record of 66, while qualifying for the Nat Kaiser Memorial trophy tournament.

Par	444	454	343—34
Sage	333	443	343—29
Caye	444	554	353—37

Trout Season Opens In Gulf of Mexico

THOMASVILLE, Ga., July 19.—The fishing season for salt water trout is opening with a vengeance in the waters of the Gulf of Mexico. These salt water trout offer a fisherman's dream fulfilled to amateur anglers who are more ardent than skilful. They are easily hooked and pulled in and give a fight sufficiently strong to satisfy the sporting proclivities of the angler. They are caught by the hundreds of pounds with hook and line in the gulf 55 miles south of here.

They Have Uncle Sam's Backing

Miss Eleanor Holm, New York, bestows a victor's kiss upon Miss Helene Madison, Seattle, Wash., right, as both girls set new world's swim records during Olympic swim tryouts at Zach's Bay, L. I. At right, Miss Mildred (Babe) Didrikson, Dallas, Texas, wins right to represent United States in Olympic games by capturing 80-meter hurdles race in girls' track and field tryouts in Dyche stadium, Evanston, Ill. Miss Didrikson set a new world record for the 80-meter event.

BRYAN GRANT TAKES MATCH

Atlanta Star Extended To Defeat Van Alen at Huntington.

HUNTINGTON, N. Y., July 19.—(AP)—The field of 32 which started play today in the first annual invitation tourney at the new Crescent-Hamilton Club here was reduced to 16 as all eight seeded players gained the second round.

The favorites came through, though Bryan Grant Jr., diminutive Atlanta star, seeded No. 4, was extended to three sets by James H. Van Alen, Newport, and J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., No. 7, was forced to his best before beating Jake Hess Jr., Fort Worth, Texas, 6-1, 3-6, 6-2.

Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, intercollegiate champion and top seeded player, advanced by beating Jerry Lang, 6-4, 6-3, while Keith Gledhill, Santa Barbara, Cal., No. 2 man, eliminated E. W. Feibleman, New York, 6-3, 6-3.

Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., ace who returned from foreign play Saturday, started after the cup here by defeating William Bragaw, South Orange, N. J., 6-1, 6-3. Mangin played excellent tennis considering that it was his first play since losing to Sidney B. Wood in the Irish championships at Dublin.

The other seeded players who came through in order were David N. Jones, of New York, who has turf court wins at Orange and Longwood to his credit this season; Berkeley Bell, No. 10, national star of New York, and Wilbur F. Coen Jr., Kansas City, who won in straight sets from Herbert L. Bowman, New York, 6-2, 6-2. Jones scored over Mills Baker, Great Neck, 6-2, 6-3, while Bell advanced at the expense of Henry Culley, Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-2.

Kiwanis Clubs To Hold Tourney

LAKE SEQUOYAH, July 19.—The Kiwanis Clubs of the first and second Georgia divisions, which include Atlanta, Cedartown, Covington, Hogansville, Jackson, Manchester, Marietta, Newnan, Rome, Thomaston, Athens, Commerce, Cornelia, Elberton, Gainesville, Lawrenceville, Madison, Toccoa, Winder and Blue Ridge, will hold a one-day golf tournament on the Lake Sequoyah course, Tate Mountain Estates, on Wednesday, July 20.

Upwards to a hundred players are expected to participate. Willie Livingstone, assistant pro of the Capital City Country Club, will handle the tournament. After the golf tourney the players and their wives will stage a "get-together" dinner at Connahaynee Lodge, when the prizes will be distributed.

Curtis Is Named To Open Olympics

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(AP)—President Hoover today named Vice President Curtis to represent him as head of the nation in opening the Olympic games in Los Angeles on July 30.

The chief executive several months ago accepted an invitation to open the games, but recently announced that because of the press of governmental affairs it probably would be impossible for him to attend.

The brief announcement given out at the White House today was interpreted as definitely precluding any trip by the president to the west coast in the near future.

Hombres Fail To Get Weber's, Santel's Gold

It Was Cherry Blossom Time in Japan and An Exciting Time Was Had By All.

By Ralph McGill.

Imagine being in possession of $10,000 in gold, which weighs plenty, and knowing that about ten tough hombres are lurking just outside the door waiting to decorate one's noggin with a blackjack, and that one's soul chance lies in speed—and plenty of it.

It's one of those nightmare positions where one is running one's legs off to escape from a bear, but the legs moye ever so slowly and the bear is gaining with each leap.

Then thousand dollars in gold—Japanese yen—which means a lot of loose money—is so much weight that a fellow cannot bestir his feet to any great speed. Yet he must.

This was the position which Henry Weber, Atlanta wrestling promoter, found himself in one fine night in Japan when the cherry blossoms filled the air. A group of people were fanning with Weber at his ticket booth Tuesday afternoon before the appearance of his heavyweight grunters at the ball park in the evening.

Weber and Ad Santel, the greatest wrestler that ever lived if you care for the opinion of those who know, were touring together through Australia, New Zealand and finally reached Japan.

They won enough matches to attract national attention and were finally matched in a tournament with several of the star Japanese wrestlers. Each of the Americans was guaranteed $10,000 if he reached the finals.

JIU JITSU.

The matches were to be jiu jitsu, with jackets. Now, the catch-as-catch-can style of wrestling is just a song and dance compared with jiu jitsu. In that wrestling the boys do not pin one another. They wrestle until one of the boys calls out "uncle" or whatever it requires to signify that he has quit.

Choking is one of the favorite sports. And kicking with the feet is another. In fact a good "jitsu" man uses his feet almost as much as his hands. And he can wrap a fold of that abbreviated smoking jacket around one's arm and snap it in two if he cares. And he cares to if one does not surrender right then and there.

Henry Weber won three matches and was eliminated by a big Jap, the emperor's own entry. But Ad Santel went right on.

SANTEL BEATS BEST.

Santel beat the best in Japan at jiu jitsu and it angered the crowd almost to the point of a riot. Jiu jitsu is a national game, so to speak, in Japan. And they wrote all the acts. But Santel beat the best they had, breaking a couple of arms in the going.

The promoters paid off—$10,000 in gold yen—and there you were. A few police reluctantly guarded the two as long as they were in the wrestling hall. But outside there was a tough crowd waiting—a short distance from the door. The police could give them a running start but who can run with $10,000 in gold in his pockets?

Well, I don't know, never having had that sort of a try. But they do say that even an Eastman or a Carr would be very slow with that much in his pockets.

And how did they get out? Well, it wasn't a heroic ending. It developed that the policemen were assigned to duty only in the hall. For a nice sum they were willing to guard the two men to their hotel. There were a dozen or so soldiers on guard also and they were off duty. And so the two wrestlers hired them all and paraded to their hotels.

But while it lasted it was a nightmare and the bear was gaining at every leap.

SEEKS TOURNEY.

Canterbury golf courses, at Cleveland, scene of the western open this year, is a candidate for the national open in 1934.

FOUR ARE TIED IN PUBLIC PLAY

SHAWNEE GOLF COURSE, LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 19.—(AP)—From Brooklyn, Little Rock, Ark.; St. Paul, Minn., and Long Beach, Cal., came four sturdy youngsters today to show themselves worthy claimants to the throne of national public links golf, won last year by the stocky young steel worker, Charles Ferrara, San Francisco.

The quartet tallied 71 each—Ralph Strafaci, Brooklyn's 18-year-old high school student; Horace Lacy, 22, Little Rock insurance salesman, who is his city and state public links champion; Joe Corin, 22, of St. Paul, medalist and runner-up in his state public links tourney, and Joe Nicholls, 16, Long Beach, Cal., runner-up to Ferrara in the 1931 national tournament.

It was almost certain the total for the 36-hole qualifying round will have to be under 150 to get into the select 32 who will start match play Thursday afternoon.

Ferrara did not go so well and took a 76, but he left himself in position to make things hot tomorrow for many would-be qualifiers and there were a score or more of others whose irons or putters didn't work today at critical points but who may squeeze out some of those who carded lower scores in the first 18 holes.

Columbus, Ohio, took the lead for the Harding cup with a total of 302 for the first day's play. The cup goes to the four-man team from one city which has the lowest total score in the two days of qualifying play. Louisville, with 303, pressed the Ohioans hard. There were 33 city teams entered for the Harding cup.

Chicago was third with 305, then Brooklyn, 306; Santa Monica and St. Paul, 307 each; Philadelphia, 308; Portland, Ore.; St. Louis, Mo.; Little Rock, and Jacksonville, Fla., 309 each; Indianapolis, 310, and Detroit, 311.

Jurges' Return To Be Delayed

CHICAGO, July 19.—(AP)—The return of Bill Jurges to the Chicago Cub lineup, scheduled for Friday, will be delayed another week.

The young shortstop who was thought to have been shot twice in attempting to prevent Violet Popovich Valli, divorcee and former chorus girl, from shooting herself nearly two weeks ago, last night was found to be carrying another bullet around. It was removed from between the ninth and tenth ribs on the right side, and he immediately left the hospital.

Only two wounds were found following the shooting, one in the right side and another in the right hand. It was not determined if the bullet which pierced his hand finally lodged between the ribs and was overlooked. Pain recurred last night.

CRAMER SLUGS EIGHT BLOWS IN TWO GAMES

Earnshaw Knocked Out of Box; Grove Goes to Rescue.

PHILADELPHIA, July 19.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics slugged their way to two victories over the St. Louis Browns today, 9 to 8, in the first game, and 16 to 6 in the nightcap. The A's had a total of 29 hits in the two games.

Jimmy Foxx, with a home run inside the park in the second game, boosted his season's total to 39. Roger Cramer had four hits in five times at bat in the first game and duplicated the feat in the second contest.

The second game became Rube Walberg's ninth success of the year when his mates pounded on three St. Louis pitchers, making 16 runs out of 14 hits and so utilizing their chances that only one runner was left on base.

Earnshaw went along smoothly in the first game, holding the Browns to six hits and two runs in the first seven innings. Then, in the eighth, St. Louis belted out five straight hits, the last a double by Melillo, to send him to the bench. For the second straight day, Grove was sent to the rescue. He was hit for a single and a double, the Browns putting across six runs in the inning to tie the count at 8 to 8.

Then Grove stopped further scoring, and received credit for his 14th victory of the season when the A's pushed across one run in the ninth. The deciding tally came after Foxx doubled and McNair singled.

INDIANS 7; RED SOX 0.

BOSTON, July 19.—Wes Ferrell hung up his seventeenth victory of the year and his first shutout by letting the Red Sox down with four hits today. The score was 7 to 0.

Connolly, Sox catcher, made two of the four bingles, the first coming in the sixth inning to break any chance of a no-hit game.

Cleveland practically won in the first frame when they made three runs off Bob Weiland.

TIGERS 3; SENATORS 2.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Unbothered by the fact it was Sam Rice day and Washington was paying tribute to the veteran outfielder, Detroit today fell on the Senators for the third time in a row and licked them, 3 to 2.

Rice, being honored for his record during 17 years of baseball with the Senators, was the recipient of a special congratulatory letter from President Hoover as well as felicitations from thousands of less notable fans.

"You have given all of us who love baseball so much pleasure that you have richly earned the honor of a 'Sam Rice day,'" Mr. Hoover wrote him. "I heartily congratulate you upon your 17 years with the Washington club and wish for you every success in the future."

To show his appreciation, Rice got two hits in five trips up for a day's average of .400 but failed to score.

Detroit, pounding Thomas for 10 hits in seven innings, scored two runs in that frame and got the other one off Coffman, who was nicked for four bingles, while Washington counted one in the sixth and its other one in the eighth.

CRACKERS DEFEAT VOLS IN TENTH, 5 TO 3

SHIRLEY, BARRON SINGLE TO WIN IN FINAL GAME

Vols Tie Score in Ninth; Atlanta Has Off Day Today.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 19.—In a battle packed with drama and knee-deep in strategy, the Atlanta Crackers scored two runs in the 10th inning here tonight to beat Nashville, 5 to 3, and take the series.

Joe Klugman and Mule Shirley, former Vols, got out their big bats and whacked off large slices of sweet revenge in accounting for the Cracker victory.

Atlanta went into the ninth trailing, 2 to 1, when Cummings and McKee opened with singles. Eisemann moved them up with a sacrifice, and here the strategy began. Barron went in to run for Cummings, and called Klugman up to hit for Carithers. Pearce relieved Reid on the hill for Nashville. Amid the howls of his admirers Gentleman Joe punched a single to left that tallied Barron and McKee.

The drama and the strategy continued, for with his club trailing, 3 to 2, in the ninth, Manager Dressen batted for Pearce and cracked a double to center to open the inning. He moved up on a sacrifice and counted on Rodda's fly. The game, tied up, went into the tenth.

Welch walked as a starter for the Crackers, advanced to second on Chapman's bunt and scored from second on Shirley's one-bagger to center. The Mule counted the fifth tally as Barron singled to left.

Nashville filled the bases in its half of the tenth but McKee went to the negro bleachers to snatch Pinch-Hitter Johnny Gooch's fly for the final out.

DUSEK WINNER ON FOUL HERE

Ernie Dusek is the new wrestling hero in Atlanta. The young fellow, who lives up to his nickname of "The Omaha Wildcat," won over George Zaharias Tuesday night in a Weber wrestling match when Zaharias was disqualified for fouling.

The falls were one each when Zaharias kneed Dusek badly. It was not the first foul but one of several. Zaharias having won the first fall by choking Dusek, Referee Lanford failing to see it.

Referee Lanford gave the show an added climax when he leaped from the ring to chase away a heckler who tossed a dirty sack into his, Lanford's, face.

All in all it was a match which had the audience on its collective feet quivering and screaming with excitement. Dusek and Zaharias are real rivals. Both are about the same age. Zaharias is heavier but Dusek is more clever.

Dusek lost the first fall when he was choked severely on a number of front headlock holds. He came back to win the second with a series of crotch holds and body slams that were beautiful to see. He was awarded the match on the foul.

It was the fastest and roughest match in months with Dusek doing the real wrestling. Once he laughed aloud at Zaharias' efforts to do a go-behind trip. His face, when set in anger, seems to terrify the ladies. They will, of course, turn out in large numbers to see him again.

The semi-windup saw Jim Clinstock, the big Indian, win in straight falls from Milo Steinborn, the German strong man. Clinstock made a great hit in the match. It was his initial appearance here.

A large crowd of several thousand fans saw the match which Henry Weber had made. Another card for the near future was announced by Henry Weber.

THE SPORTLIGHT
By Grantland Rice

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 19.—It is all in the old home viewpoint. The philosophy that suits one nation is merely a chunk of mush for some other country.

Over here we go out for speed and agility, for the sprints and the jumps, for the hurdles and the vaults. These are the things that count. But the Finns, for one example, have no particular interest in any running event short of the 1,500-meter highway. Athletic ability to them means largely stamina and durability. They look to the longer road—to the far-away goal.

If they have any particular envy for our Metcalfes, Tolans, Carrs, Eastmans and Grabers, they don't show it. Against these fast and agile entries they point to Larva and Purje, Lehtinen, Iso-Holo and Nurmi, guarding the routes from 1,500 to the marathon. And these routes, to the Finns, are the ones that mean real glory. They ask any nation to point to another Kohlemainen or another Nurmi, with a bunch of other winners thrown in.

The Finns mean business over these extended trails. They are not going to have their athletes bothered or annoyed by non-combatants. They keep aloof and have asked for extra guards.

They will stand by Nurmi to the last barricade. They have hard competition at 1,500, where Pen Hallowell will be no easy mark. They have great runners to face in Kusocinski, of Poland; Zabala, of Argentina; Kitamoto, of Japan, and Morales, of Mexico, who have all run this distance close to record time.

Unless a miracle takes place the best United States runner over this distance will need a pair of field glasses to see whether he is chasing men or mirages.

When you mention 5,000 and 10,000 meters to most of our young runners over here they get that tired feeling and reach for a chair or the steering wheel of a car.

You can't blame them? It's too much work? Well, a pair of young fellows by the name of Wykoff and Eastman last week did not look as if they had been picking rose blossoms or ripe cherries for the last three months.

The point has been made that we have the field events pretty well sewed up. Just a minute or two. A young fellow by the name of Chubei Nambu, of Japan, has broad jumped 26 feet 2 1-8 inches. Another Japanese by the name of Oda has a hop, step and jump record of 51 feet 11-4 inches.

These are both world marks. Anything approaching these two performances will win in the stadium.

Douda, the Czech, has tossed the shot 52 feet 7 4-5 inches and Hirschfield and Hart, of South Africa, are both good for 52 at their best. Jarvinen, of Finland, has thrown the javelin 10 feet beyond anything we have and there also are good hammer throwers to beat.

It will be a different story in the pole vault and the high jump. Any invader who can beat Bill Graber or Young Miller will need a step ladder.

Pole vaulting is a tricky art where upsets are always possible, but Graber and Miller are much too good. So are Spitz, Van Osdel and Johnson in the high jump.

The United States has the best field team it ever knew, but the competition will also be keener and better and timing doesn't have to flutter much to have a good man flop and fail.

It takes a centipede on a motorcycle to see even part of the preliminary training scenes. But even a brief look at the Riviera country where the equestrian entries are on the job was worth the trip.

The scenic setting with its surrounding hills and valleys, its polo fields and its sweeps of turf is a perfect picture.

But even this setting doesn't outclass in beauty many of the horses, picked from the best in the world for the all-around test that must be faced—including 23 miles across country for horse and rider and no substitute for either.

Form, timing and peak conditions are delicate affairs. They can all change greatly even in the short time left before the Olympic games open. If you check back you will see that most of those who looked to be unbeatable earlier in the year took a tall drop at Stanford.

Eastman was one of these. Toppino had beaten Tolan more than once last winter. Toppino hadn't lost a 100-meter race since 1932 lifted its young face to look out on time. Wykoff was another case.

Gene Venzke broke a world's indoor record for the mile and won at the Boston tryouts. A bad leg ligament set back Venzke and a bad back ligament didn't help Wykoff in any way. But the time to be at the peak for an Olympic game is August—not March, April, May and June.

On the other hand, Hallowell wasn't quite ready to win at Berkeley in the intercollegiates. Graber had set no pole-vaulting records in the spring. Tolan and Simpson had no great spring records. You never heard much of Bill Carr before the Berkeley show early in July.

What about Metcalfe? The big Marquette sprinter is another story. He has enough power packed away in that deep chest and heavy frame to be an exception. He should be better at the Olympic test than he was at Stanford, where he gave no sign of being pressed or crowded in the final heats.

Metcalfe furnished plenty of warning in his first 100-meter heat, where he was a bad last at 50 yards and then finished like something fired from a catapult. The last 50 yards of Metcalfe's was as sensational a piece of running as any one will ever see, considering his almost hopeless chance to close up such an open gap.

British Team Ends Ocean Trip

TORONTO, July 19.—(AP)—Bronzed and healthy after their trip across the Atlantic with the delegates to the imperial conference at Ottawa, members of the British Olympic track and field team arrived here today en route to the Los Angeles games.

Lord David Burghley, Olympic 400-meter hurdle champion, smiling and confident, predicted the British team "small but a good one" would give a good account of itself at Los Angeles, but declined to go beyond that general statement.

The British team will leave for Hamilton, Ont., Thursday. From there it will go to Chicago and then on to Los Angeles by train.

ED LEWIS WINS.

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP)—Ed Strangler Lewis, of Los Angeles, claimant of the heavyweight wrestling crown, tossed Sandor Szabo, of Hungary, in 21:04 of the main bout of the Coliseum mat show tonight. Lewis weighed 238, Szabo 207.

West Point Holds Fight Card Friday

WEST POINT, Ga., July 19.—The main bout on Friday's card will be between Dunn, local light heavyweight, and "Red" Wilson, one of the best boxers in the south. Wilson has met and defeated some of the best in the game and should give Dunn the toughest fight he has had.

A good number of preliminaries have been arranged which are attracting much attention.

CUYLER DRIVES WINNING SCORE HOME FOR CUBS

Mel Ott Hits 17th With Two on in First Frame.

CHICAGO, July 19.—(AP)—The New York Giants scored a run in the ninth inning today to tie the Cubs at 4-4, but Chicago came right back with another tally to win, 5 to 4, and to present Lon Warneke with his 14th victory of the season and his seventh in a row.

Warneke pitched a fine game in an uphill fight after the first inning. He got off to a bad start when Mel Ott clouted his 17th home run of the season with two on base in the first. But after that blow he gave only two more hits up to the eighth. The homer followed a walk to Moore and a single by Critz.

Fred Fritzsimmons was not quite steady enough to hold the lead Ott gave him. He wabbled in the third, and the Cubs scored twice on hits by Hack, English and Cuyler. Chicago put over two more tallies in the sixth as Warneke drove in the run that gave him the lead. Stephenson and Barton opened with a pair of singles. Hartnett drew a walk and Herman's long fly brought in a run. Warneke then bounced a hit off Fitzsimmons' pitching hand for another tally.

The Giants' ninth inning run came on Frank Hogan's double and Vergez's single that brought Pinch-Runner Gilbert English home.

Sam Gibson, third Giant pitcher was the victim of the winning rally. Hack opened the final inning with a single. English advanced him with a sacrifice and Cuyler drove him home with another base hit.

Frankie Petrolle Beats Battalino

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP)—Frankie Petrolle, younger brother of the more famous Billy, made it four straight for the Petrolle family over Bat Battalino, former featherweight champion, by winning a 10-round decision at the Queensboro stadium tonight.

It was Frankie's second victory over the Hartford, Conn., battler who previously had lost twice to Billy Petrolle.

Battalino ran into Petrolle's right in the fourth and went down for a nine count. The blow slowed him down and by the time he recovered Frankie had piled up enough points to win.

The ex-champion took the first two rounds easily and had an edge in the fast third.

Bat landed a right to the head in the ninth, staggering Petrolle, but the youngster fought back and took the round. Each weighed 141 pounds.

POWERS EXTEND TRUCE ON ARMS

Deadlock on Heavy Mobile Guns Continues To Hold Up Recess of Meeting.

BY STEWART BROWN.

GENEVA, July 19.—(AP)—A deadlock on heavy mobile land guns continued today to hold up recess for the world disarmament conference, the Americans holding out for total abolition of these weapons in an adjournment resolution.

A four-power conference among the Americans, Italians, French and English was held today and after four hours still was unable to agree on this point of the proposed five-point resolution.

The United States, British and French approved a clause providing for a four-month extension, from November 1, of the present arms truce.

The American delegates also persuaded the French to accept a clause providing for substantial reduction of effectives (armed forces), although the method of computing effectives is to be decided later by intergovernmental negotiations.

The British simultaneously reported progress in negotiations with the French on a clause dealing with reduction of military budgets.

Several controversial questions remain to be settled, but the conference is expected to adjourn after adopting the resolution in which the great powers promise to continue negotiations this summer in an effort to iron out differences over land, sea and air cuts.

The American and British negotiations with the French delegates, Premier Edouard Herriot and War Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour, encountered many difficulties and it was not until Hugh Gibson and Senator Claude Swanson had redrafted the American plan on effectives several times that the French agreed to inserting it in the adjournment resolution.

The French were willing to accept substantial reductions—instead of President Hoover's proposal for one-third reduction—but objected to the American method of reduction.

UNPAID EMPLOYE OF CITY LOSES HOME FOR $31 TAX BILL

CHICAGO, July 19.—(AP)—City officials auctioned off the home of James D. O'Reilly, a municipal employe for 25 years, for failure to pay $34 in city taxes, although he claims $850 in unpaid salary.

O'Reilly an electrical inspector, learned today he could redeem his home by paying the small sewer assessment of $34, 6 per cent interest on it, 12 per cent for the purchaser at the auction, and all reinstatement charges.

For four years he has spent his spare time landscaping the place with terraced lawns, rock gardens and flowers. He has four children under five years of age. An older daughter and a sister, also city employes, are also in arrears of salary and unable to help him financially, he said.

ROSE, LARGE SPEAK AT CIVITAN MEETING

The new federal revenue tax has one redeeming feature, the fact that it costs the government no more to collect it, Josiah T. Rose, internal revenue collector, told the Civitan Club at its weekly luncheon at the Atlanta Athletic Club on Tuesday.

Several changes in the income tax rates and conditions have already been printed, but Mr. Rose elaborated them. He pointed out that large concerns which sent out many checks could avoid the tax by preparing a form of draft similar in a general way to the form of counter receipts used by the banks.

E. K. Large, the postmaster, made a talk on the new postage rates, and like Mr. Rose, answered questions by Civitans. He said that firms may deliver mail by regular employes, but may not give it out to individuals or companies at piece rates.

Soviet Representative Sees Great Progress in U. S. S. R.

Boris E. Skvirsky, Here On Trip Through Southern States, Talks of Conditions in Russia.

Predicting industrial and economic progress for soviet Russia, and outlining progress already made there, Boris E. Skvirsky, the unofficial representative of the soviet union in the United States, talked of conditions in his native country Tuesday. He arrived in Atlanta Monday for a stay of one or two days, interrupting his travel through the southern states, later to go west and to return to Washington through the northern section of the country.

BORIS E. SKVIRSKY.

Mr. Skvirsky first arrived in the United States as a representative of the far eastern republic to the Washington disarmament conference at the end of 1921. Having remained in Washington after the conference, he represented the Moscow foreign office after the amalgamation of the far eastern republic in 1922 with the Russian socialistic soviet republic.

In 1924, 1926, 1929 and 1931 he returned to Moscow but returned to Washington each time after spending from four to six months in the soviet union. Mr. Skvirsky is a "southerner" himself, having been born in the south of Russia, at Odessa, on the Black sea. He expressed admiration for the southern states of this country "in general and Georgia in particular because it is remindful of southern Russia."

"Symbol of Backwardness."

Concerning the progress of the soviet union and about American-soviet relationships, Mr. Skvirsky said the greatest thing that could have happened to Russia itself, and to humanity at large, was its disappearance from the world maps, "Russia being a symbol of backwardness, oppression and imperialism.

"The revolution changed all that. Old Russia was replaced nearly 15 years ago by what is known at the present as the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. The birth of the new republic and the first years of its existence was painful.

"War, including civil conflict, a blockade, foreign military intervention, famine, all had to be overcome. This was accomplished by 1922 and only then could the country start on the road of peaceful economic and cultural development."

Regarding the change, Mr. Skvirsky said that practically everything in 1922 was in a state of entire disorganization.

"Industries," he said, "were producing only about 15 per cent of prewar production. By 1926, however, industrial and agricultural production was re-established to the pre-war level and after that the country entered a new period, that of reconstruction of its entire economic structure on a modern technical and scientific basis.

Hydro-Electric Development.

"Power stations were, and are, being built all over the country, the largest hydro-electric plant being that of the Dnieprostroy in the Ukraine and several others of mammoth size are to be started. Numerous steel plants, machine construction plants, textile factories and such in almost every line of activity are being constructed.

"A country that hardly saw or heard of a tractor before the war is producing this year about 100,000 machines and soon will be in position to produce from 150,000 to 200,000 tractors a year. Large automobile plants have been built while agriculture is being industrialized. Most of the small 26,000,000 farms of pre-war have been transformed into large-scale collective farms using the latest of agricultural machinery, the latest data showing that 62 per cent of the peasants are already in such collectives. All reconstruction is being carried out on the basis of a detailed plan, the so-called five-year plan.

"Indication of the successful work lies in the fact that the plan will no doubt be carried out in the main in four instead of five years, the end of this year marking the fulfillment of the first five-year plan. A second five-year plan has already been prepared.

Compulsory Education Introduced.

Regarding education, Mr. Skvirsky said that compulsory primary education has been introduced all over the country and that plans were being made to make secondary education compulsory.

"The struggle against adult illiteracy and superstition," said Mr. Skvirsky, "has met with considerable success. The soviet union is grappling now with the problem of turning out specialists and skilled workmen. To make an agricultural people machine-minded within a period of a few years is no common task and requires tremendous effort. So far results have been gratifying, with American and German technical skill used in the effort."

Commenting on the standards of living in Russia, Mr. Skvirski said the standard was yet far from that desired by the government and the people.

"And yet the standard of living," he said, "is already much higher than it was before the war. Industries produce two and one-half times as much as before the war, but shortage of various goods and products is still felt. The explanation of such a condition is simple. Before the war Russian industries had only 10,000,000 to 20,000,000 customers to care for; the 100,000,000 backward and starved peasants had no money to buy with. The revolution has brought about a new situation—the entire population are customers. It will be necessary, therefore, to increase production five-fold and more. This is the reason why the soviet union is hurrying the construction of more and more plants—the needs of the people must be met.

Work for Many Years.

"In the light of this fact it is ridiculous to picture the soviet union as a menace to American or world trade. In order to cope with the growing needs of 160,000,000 people, there will be work for many years to come. In addition to that fact, the population is increasing at a rate of 3,500,000 a year.

"The soviet union has renounced the imperialism of old Russia and is primarily interested in peace. The soviet proposal at Geneva for complete or partial disarmament was made in good faith but unfortunately it met with little response. The latest American proposal for one-third reduction in armaments has met with real support only on the part of the soviet union.

"The peaceful intentions of the soviets is well illustrated in the Far East, where a dangerous situation has existed for several months. America and the soviet union are the two greatest countries on the Pacific and much depends upon their relationship.

"The soviet union is already a great market but is potentially one of the greatest. Up to 1930 our trade with America was continually growing, until it reached $140,000,000. The average trade for 1919-24 was $45,000,000. In 1931 as a result of continuous attacks against everything connected with the soviet union, especially soviet imports, and as a result of difficult credit conditions, the trade fell to $117,000,000. In the first six months of 1932 trade had dwindled to $5,500,000, as against $40,500,000 for the first six months of 1931, or a decrease of 86 per cent.

Trade on Increase.

"It is to be noted that at the same time Russian trade with Germany and England shows a large increase, largely on account of stable political and trade relationships and suitable credit conditions. Trade with America has no solid juridical basis—the rights and duties of both countries were not defined in a treaty as is the case among other nations. No country can take chances and be exposed to continuous attacks. It is especially so with the soviet union which has to plan its economy in advance.

"The future must provide for normal relations if soviet trade is to be revived and developed. It is worth noting that out of $731,000,000 in soviet-American trade from 1923 to 1931, the balance was $484,000,000 in favor of the United States.

"Let us hope that the future will see better relations created for the development of trade and friendship between the two great countries. If such is done, the interest of world peace will be greatly strengthened."

POWER ACT IS HIT IN UTILITY BATTLE

Appalachian Company Denies Right of Federal Group To Interfere.

NORFOLK, Va., July 19.—(AP)—Constitutionality of the federal water power act, if it is construed as giving the federal power commission control over projects of non-navigable streams, was attacked today by counsel for the Appalachian Electric Power Company.

Raymond T. Jackson, of counsel for the power company, was the speaker who told Judge Luther B. Way in United States court for the eastern district of Virginia, that if the federal act could be construed as permitting the commission to enter orders to compel a power company to obtain a major license for construction and operation of a hydro-electric development on a non-navigable stream, then, in this respect, the act is unconstitutional and void.

The Appalachian company is seeking an order from Judge Way to prevent the members of the federal power commission from interfering with the proposed construction and operation of a power project on New river, in Pulaski county, Virginia.

For two days Judge Way has heard arguments from attorneys for the power commission and from the power company on a case which has attracted nation-wide attention because of the questions of state's rights and the powers of the federal power commission involved in the case.

Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in President Wilson's cabinet, appearing as counsel for the Appalachian company, is expected to close arguments for the company tomorrow morning, and Houston Thompson, of Colorado, a special assistant to the attorney-general of the United States, who has presented most of the arguments for the power commission, will close for the commission.

The case is being argued on a motion by the members of the power commission to dismiss the bill in the power company's suit against them, in which the power company seeks the order to prevent the commission from interfering with the hydro-electric project, which is expected to cost a total of $10,000,000, of which approximately $1,500,000 already has been spent, according to Mr. Jackson's arguments in court today.

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP)—Members of the Association of Railway Executives will meet tomorrow to grapple with the problems which have been besetting the railroads with increasing force over the last year.

The association will consider a report by its advisory committee which met at the Hotel Biltmore today, drafted reforms suggested by a subcommittee of the association composed of Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio; J. J. Pelley, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford, and Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific.

The railmen who met today, represented most of the important carriers of the eastern, western and southern groups. It was said the program considered by the advisory committee covered nearly every phase of the railroads' problems.

PARAMOUNT SEEKS EXPRESSIVE LEGS FOR FILM SCENES

HOLLYWOOD, July 19.—(AP)—Paramount Studios seek, for the movies a pair of beautiful legs, with very small feet attached.

Or, as Director Frank Borzage explained it:

"I want legs with a blonde temperament, if you know what I mean."

But no matter how beautiful the legs' owner may be, her face will not be shown in the film, a picturization of Ernest Hemingway's "A Farewell to Arms."

In the sequence of scenes in which the girl will appear with Helen Hayes, Gary Cooper and Adolphe Menjou, her voice will be used, and she will have a slipper on only one foot—so if she can express ideas with her toes, the handicap of a hidden face may not be so great.

O. G. proves its case

Scientific tests upset claims of rival brands.

Give verdict to Old Gold, as coolest, throat-easiest cigarette.

CLUB WOMEN INTERESTED IN CIGARETTE PURITY WITNESS OLD GOLD SCIENTIFIC VICTORY
Mrs. Oliver C. Harriman, Mrs. Julian Gerard, and Mrs. William Thaw III, keen spectators of the Calorimeter test showing the greater coolness of OLD GOLD, in comparison with 3 other leading brands.

PROOF! . . . that's what you want in a cigarette advertisement. You can't smoke claims. You're entitled to evidence.

But do you get it . . . when an ad simply says: "My cigarette is better!"

OLD GOLD doesn't expect to win you by unsupported adjectives alone. But it does ask you to consider the findings of a great testing laboratory . . . as checked by scientists of two leading universities . . . then draw your own conclusions!

These laboratories made a "cool" test of 4 leading cigarette brands . . . an accurate, impartial scientific test. They repeated it 75 times. And consistently, the smoke of an OLD GOLD was shown to be the coolest, and hence the throat-easiest.

Coolness is the clue to quality in a cigarette. Only the finest, smoothest, purest tobacco burns "cool." Only PURE tobacco burns cool. In establishing itself as the coolest smoke, OLD GOLD proves itself the cigarette of purest and choicest tobacco quality; utterly free of hot-burning artificial flavorings.

NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD

The Verdict of Science

This is to certify that in 75 repeated cool tests made of the 4 leading cigarette brands . . . measuring the heat content of each cigarette in B.T.Us. with the Oxygen Bomb Calorimeter, it was shown that:

Old Gold averages 112 B.T.Us. Cooler than Brand X
Old Gold averages 155 B.T.Us. Cooler than Brand Y
Old Gold averages 156 B.T.Us. Cooler than Brand Z

The Thermometer test (Fahrenheit) showed Old Gold smoke definitely cooler than that of the other brands.

Miss Mary Frances Wiggins, only daughter of Mrs. Mattie Clark Wiggins, became the bride of Dr. Pleasant Leonidas Moon Jr. Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at St. John's Methodist Episcopal church. E. C. Wilson, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony in the presence of a large assemblage of friends and relatives of the young couple.

Miss Emily Parmalee rendered the following program of nuptial music preceding and during the ceremony: "In Paradisum," Dubois; "The Swan," Saint Saens; "To the Rising Sun," Porjussen; "To a Water Lily," MacDowell; "Cantilene Nuptiale," Dubois; "Bridal Chorus" (Lohengrin), Wagner; "Liebestraum," Liszt; "Wedding March," Mendelssohn.

The chancel of the church was banked with palms, flanked by seven-branched candelabra holding lighted tapers. Baskets filled with garden flowers in pastel shades lent a charming touch of color to the altar.

The ushers included Dr. E. L. Graydon, Stafford Graydon, Morris Stephenson and Homer Brown. Mrs. Homer Brown, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She wore pink chiffon, with French felt hat and accessories to match. She carried a bouquet of pink and blue garden flowers.

Miss Edna Volberg, maid of honor, was gowned in rose chiffon with French felt hat and accessories to match. Her bouquet was similar to that of the matron of honor.

The lovely bride entered the church with her uncle, Christopher G. Clark, and was met at the altar by the bridegroom and his father, who acted as best man. She wore a becoming model of Bambino blue chiffon, featuring a deeply shirred skirt and cape. She wore blue slippers, and a French felt hat of the same shade trimmed with pink. Her bouquet was of pink rosebuds showered with valley lilies.

Dr. Moon and his bride left immediately after the ceremony for a wedding trip, from which they will return to make their home in Atlanta.

in our fourth floor Room of Interiors, the tall rose-damasked windows behind them and the Persian rug on the floor making a charming setting for their pantomime. With mock courtliness he bent before her disdainful person, till with a little gesture of surrender she lifted him up, and they faced me, laughing, embarrassed.

"Bill and I are in town for the game," she confessed, blushing till her cheeks matched the rose of the damask drapes and her eyes were a sparkling version of the Persian blue in the rug. "He's been following me around all day proposing . . . in the taxi, over the lunch table . . . even walking right down the street! . . ."

"And she's been refusing me all day," put in Bill, "on the grounds that those places are all wet for getting engaged in! So I told her, by jimminy, I'd find a spot to suit her romantic soul!"

"Ten minutes to the kick-off!" he whistled in amazement, consulting his watch. But before he dragged her triumphantly away, she tossed me a card on which she had snatched time to scribble a name, an address, and a brief message: "Please send me samples of these lovely chintzes in here. Bill dosn't know it yet, but we're coming to Rich's for our apartment's trousseau!"

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Have you ever thought what different relationships women sustain to their husbands? Marriage is a great game of combinations. Given all the different sorts of men and women, there is almost no limit to the number and variety of combinations that can be worked out. A thousand elements enter into this game. These are some of them: What the woman has to give and to what extent she is able and willing to give; what the man wants and what he is able to appropriate; the manner in which he plays his hand and the wife's understanding of his method. Many a woman with no thought above and beyond her love for her husband is unable to supply the complementary qualities that he desires. Likewise, many a man deeply devoted to his wife is powerless to elicit from her the things he needs most, and the things she would willingly give, if she but knew they were desired and knew how to give them.

To one man his wife is a footstool on which he wipes his feet. She places herself in a position convenient to such debasing usage. Perhaps she is one of those creatures capable only of doglike devotion. Or it may be that love has got her down. Love does get us down, you know, if we lack pride. If this woman could, or would, raise herself to a position that her wifehood warranted her husband would welcome her beside him. But his foot is on her neck. She cannot rise. Being rather comfortable himself in this position, it is asking too much of him to stoop to raise her. In the beginning she had her choice of situations and she chose a humble one. In that humble one she will live and die.

To another man his wife is a queen to be worshiped. She has regal qualities of mind and heart and she wears her crown with distinction. He is proud of her and she suns herself in the bright warmth of his aproval and his admiration. Her views are respected, all her demands are met. Her word is law.

To one man his wife is a background against which he stands out in bold relief. She never comes out front stage to play opposite him, but without her solid background qualities he would appear far less brilliant. When he tells a joke he knows he may count on her laugh. When he forgets a name he appeals to her to supply it, but he never asks her to tell the story. She walks a little behind him all through life, not far enough behind to make him appeal ungallant, but never close enough to share his honors.

To another man his wife is a business manager. His earnings are banked with her. His reports are made out to her and the family exchequer is controlled by her. He has learned that it is better to consult with her in the beginning than it is to be catechised by her in the end. Natively qualified for her job, experience has made her apt and efficient. From her decisions he no longer dissents, with her opinions he no longer takes issue, with her methods he no longer quarrels.

To one man his wife is a magnifying mirror. He looks into her eyes and sees the great qualities of his own mind and heart mirrored there. He is not satisfied with any other mirror. The others reduce him to life size, or less. It is the heroic picture that tickles his vanity and satisfies his longing for greatness and his wife reflects it. When the vise of life squeezes him, and cares weight him down, he returns to her for a look, and in that look he finds complete satisfaction. The squeezing hasn't completely deflated him, the burdens he carries haven't diminished his height. In those eyes he is still a giant.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

BY ELY CULBERTSON,

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Bidding Freak Holdings

Freak holdings are a law unto themselves, and it is difficult, indeed, to lay down rules that can be rigidly followed when freak meets freak in the mental play that is known as bidding.

An extremely interesting example of freak hands and unusual bidding occurred recently in a Duplicate Bridge game at the Women's Bridge Club in Hollywood, Cal., in which a variety of results were reached on the hands pictured below:

West—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

A number of East and West players reached a contract of seven clubs, which was, of course, made laid down.

At one table, however, North and South reach and made a contract of seven spades. As both sides were vulnerable, this represented a swing of 4,350 points as a result of the bidding.

The successful bidding for North and South was as follows:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

West	North	East	South
2◇(1)	Pass	2NT	3◇(2)
4♣(3)	4♠(4)	5♣	5♠
6♣	6♠	Pass	Pass
7♣(5)	Pass	Pass	7♠(6)
Pass	Pass	Pass

1—Although the hand contains only 4 honor-tricks, the distribution is so unusual as to warrant opening with a Forcing bid of two.
2—A most unusual bid, forcing partner to keep the bidding open after opponents have opened with an Opening bid of two in a suit.
3—While West might double South's three diamond bid, it would be an empty gesture. He, therefore, discloses his second strong suit.
4—North has a really strong hand opposite his partner's extremely strong bid. To pass would be only the counsel of timidity.
5—West feels reasonable sure that he can make seven clubs. He does not feel certain that he can defeat six spades. In any event, the slight risk of losing the Grand Slam is to be preferred to the possibility, by no means remote with West's freakish hand, that North and South may make a Small Slam in spades.
6—South, warned by his own extremely freakish distribution, is far from certain that his two Aces will produce 1 trick with which to set the Grand Slam contract. In view of partner's free bid, he reasons that, at worst, he should be down 2 tricks—a small price to pay for preventing a vulnerable Grand Slam.

In the play, seven spades of course were made, as South did not make the mistake of laying down the Ace of hearts.

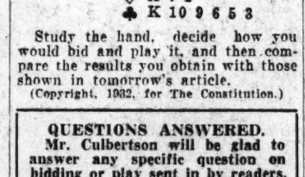
TODAY'S POINTER.

Hard and fast rules cannot be laid down regarding the bidding of freak holdings in the Slam zone. When the early stages of bidding, however, have disclosed extremely freakish holdings, the defending players should be wary of doubling.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand shown below will be discussed tomorrow:

East—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
North-South—20.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

Style by Annette

GOOD STYLE, LOVELY AND SMART.

You'll have guessed the original was in a rather daring print in black and white crepe silk. The trims were plain white.

Aren't the puffed sleeves attractive? The skirt is cut with circular shaped side sections. This creates a panel effect at the front and the back, to give the figure youthful height.

Besides black, a navy and white print or plain beige crepe silk would be very chic. Younger girls might like it in coral or a vivid red crepe silk.

Style No. 394 is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

Size 36 requires 3 3-4 yards 39-inch with 3-4 yard 35-inch contrasting.

Spring is the most important, the most colorful season in fashions. All the more reason why you should have an authentic guide, such as our new fashion magazine, to show you the way in design, colors, etc.

AUGUSTAN IS NAMED IN $75,000 BALM SUIT

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 19.—(AP) Attentions shown her by J. Clarence Sancken, Augusta, Ga., a married man, who, she said, professed to be single, greatly damaged her character, Mrs. Joyce Anthony alleges in a $75,000 suit filed here against Sancken and Sancken's wife, Nellie.

Mrs. Anthony charged in the papers that after Sancken introduced her to friends and invited her to other cities to meet friends she learned he was married and had several children. However, she said he told her he was divorced. Mrs. Anthony says she then broke their relations.

The suit further recites that while Mrs. Anthony was ill Sancken appeared at her apartment, demanding a "showdown." An argument followed, and Mrs. Anthony claimed her neighbors heard the argument and in that manner her character was damaged.

Georgia Has Mackaill As "Safe in Hell" Star

The Georgia theater brings to Atlanta a very much discussed picture under the title of "Safe in Hell," which opens today and stars Dorothy Mackaill. This is the latest starring vehicle for Miss Makaill and she turns in a much different performance than in any other picture in which she has played for some time.

The story is one with an unusual setting, in that a girl finds herself surrounded with men from all walks of life on a lonely island, who, including herself, are refugees from justice. Others who appear in the picture are Don Cook, who created a sensation in "The Public Enemy," and Victor Varconi. Added presentations on the program will include a new issue of news, a comedy entitled "That Rascal," and a novelty cartoon, "Pagan Moon."

Starting next Saturday the Georgia will offer Barbara Stanwyck in her newest picture, "The Purchase Price."

Thrilling 'Rescue' by City Firemen Shown at Rialto on Newskoop Reel

Lengthening by leaps and bounds, The Constitution-Rialto Newskoop reel Tuesday night presented additional scenes of Atlanta to augment those offered Saturday and Monday. Cameraman Robert Strickland, Hollywood veteran, visited the fire department training school Tuesday and made several shots of thrilling scenes.

With Fire Chief John Terrell directing his full battalion of rookies, Strickland focused on several daring feats. In addition to scenes of the chief inspecting his men, the regular routine drills were shot, with hook and ladder stunts.

The most spectacular scene was a "rescue" of a girl by a fireman and a dizzy slide down six stories of rope. Activities for the thriller shots were directed by Chief Trainer T. C. Bouck.

The newsreel pictures are shown in connection with Columbia's "Hollywood Speaks" at the Rialto through Friday, which is a story of heartaches and glory behind the scenes in Hollywood.

Day by day the newsreel is growing, and in addition to shots made Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, others will be recorded by cameramen during the balance of the week. In addition to scenes in The Constitution offices, other shots show various activities in Atlanta. The tennis match between Bitsy Grant and Cliff Sutter at Piedmont Driving Club Sunday, the reserve officers' regiment at Fort McPherson in addition to other late events are shown on the Rialto screen.

LONDON, July 19.—(AP)—Prince George, youngest son of the king, has advanced another step in his naval career with appointment as personal naval aide-de-camp to his father.

The prince served in the navy for eight years beginning in 1921. He retired from active service in 1929 but his name remained on the active list with the rank of lieutenant.

Hall, of 1083 East Clifton road, will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Kirkwood Presbyterian church. The Rev. Richard Orme Flinn, the Rev. J. M. Haymore and the Rev. F. C. MISSING AIR LINER IS REPORTED FOUND

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 19.—(AP)—A report that the Pan-American Airways passenger plane, which has been missing since Saturday, had been found reached Santiago today but authorities here doubted its authenticity.

According to the report the plane had been found wrecked on a farm at the foot of the Andes, near the town of Las Condes, and it was said that two bodies were found nearby. The plane carried a crew of three and six passengers.

FINAL RITES HELD FOR MRS. BINFORD

Funeral services for Mrs. William Binford, of Richmond, Va., who was killed Sunday morning in an automobile accident near Seneca, S. C., in which Miss Natalie de Golian, prominent figure in Atlanta society, also was killed, were held Tuesday afternoon at the Peachtree chapel of Brandon-Bond-Condon Company, with Rev. John Moore Walker officiating. The place of interment will be announced later.

Services for Miss de Golian were held Monday afternoon at the Peachtree chapel and the body was taken to Roanoke, Va., for interment. Miss de Golian was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix de Golian, of 1559 Peachtree street.

Mrs. Binford and Miss de Golian were killed in the accident in which William Binford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Binford, of Atlanta, was seriously injured. He was taken to Piedmont hospital, where Tuesday his condition was described as improved by hospital attaches. The three were on their way from Richmond to Atlanta when their car collided with a truck.

SLAVERY OF TAXATION SCORED BY PUBLISHER

CHICAGO, July 19.—(AP)—Colonel Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, called upon America tonight to resist a rising tide of taxes that "seeks to put the nation in slavery to an office-holding class by the confiscation of private property.

In a radio address for the national organization to reduce public expenditures, he blamed depression upon over-taxation.

"Not until shortly after last Christmas was it perceived that the world-wide depression was caused by over-taxation," said Colonel McCormick. "Congressional leaders recognized the correctness of the analysis and creditably introduced sensible tax measures and bills for the reform of public extravagance, but as soon as it became apparent that to prevent a nation-wide panic either the drain on the public treasury must lessen or the base of taxation must be spared, and insurrection was set up in the party ranks in congress under the acknowledged leadership of the reds. The political leaders ran to cover and a riot of confiscation and misappropriation followed.

The publisher said a crisis was approaching in which there would be insufficient tax income to feed the millions of unemployed.

MIAMI BONDS TO PAY ONLY 3 PER CENT IN '33

MIAMI, Fla., July 19.—(AP)—City commissioners today voted to pay only 3 per cent interest during the year on $31,000,000 of outstanding bonds and to make no payments on the principal debt.

The action was taken, commissioners said, in response to a demand by citizens at a mass meeting that $1,000,000 be clipped from budget operating expenses.

RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE :: :: An Ominous Prediction :: :: :: :: :: By Zane Grey

A-15
Lassiter said: "Venters, let's talk awhile before we go down to Jane Withersteen's." Venters told him about seeing Oldring and his Masked Rider. He was surprised at the other's reply. "Lassiter, you know Oldring!" he cried.
"Me an' Oldring wasn't exactly strangers down in the Rio Virgin country. Tell me something about yourself." Venters related his story—that of a wanderer, rider of the sage, until chance threw him into Jane Withersteen's employ. Then the persecution of the Mormons . . © 1932
"No man can hold out against the Mormons in this country unless he takes to packing guns," Venters went on. "I've practised, hour after hour, for months." He made a lightning-swift movement. . . .
"Now that's interestin' to me," said Lassiter.
Lassiter smiled, then his bronzed eyelids half closed. "You'll kill Tull!" He did not question; he affirmed.
"I promised Jane I'd try to avoid Tull," Venters said grimly, "but sooner or later Tull and I will meet!"

SYNOPSIS.

Tony Brookes was 18 when her father and mother were killed in an automobile accident at Centerville, her home town. She had intended to study art but her capital had dwindled to $12 before she got a job in Madame Simone's dress shop in New York. Her frankness in telling women what they could not wear soon brought her dismissal on the same day that Leslie (Lee) Moran, a model, was discharged. Lee had no money and Tony shared her third-floor back room at Mrs. Higgins' with her. Before Tony got a job at an art gallery, Lee became a taxi dancer at El Tango, where she met Adam Leonard, whom she called Uncle Lenny. He was a kindly looking man between 50 and 60. Tom Stewart, a young engineer in love with Lee, missed her at Mrs. Higgins'. Tony fell in love with him at once and tried to bring herself to tell Lee. Lee had insisted that Tony go out for an evening with Leonard and an out-of-town friend, Donald Kemp. As they were leaving a night club, Leonard's wife saw them and made a scene. Leonard had been unhappily married and Kemp, a lawyer, arranged for Mrs. Leonard to get a divorce. Lee astonished Tony later, announcing that she was going to pose as the correspondent and expected to receive $3,000. She moved to an apartment. M. Montieu, a client of Kemp's, gave Tony a chance at dress designing in his studio and she attended art school at night. NOW GO WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT XVII.

"Oh, Lee, stop being funny. It's the only thing I've done they really noticed. Montieu happened to be passing, I had a few minutes leisure and I was trying an idea I'd run across at noon. He looked at my board and asked me if it was original. I told him it was so far as I knew."

"You mean you'd copped the grand notion from some other dressed hound while you were out to lunch? Don't tell me, Tony you're going sensible?"

"Not the way you mean. There was a heavy mist at noon, like smoke with gold behind it where the sun was trying to struggle through, and just the teeniest bit of blue sky, sudden, so blue it seemed unreal when the mist parted. I held frantically to the feeling of it, raced back to the studio and found I'd have time to jot it down in an evening gown before the others came from lunch. I'd about finished the first impression when Monsieur Montieu happened past.

"I hope you gave his nibs an eyeful of yourself. Gosh, Tony. You're pretty when you're all pepped up like this!"

"Thanks." Tony emerged from the depths of black and silver. No use confiding those soaring moments of creation to Lee. Like pouring crystal spring water into heady red wine and expecting the water to color the wine. "I must run. If I'm late for class I don't get a good angle on the model."

Lee was nibbling glaced fruit from an ornate box.

"That reminds me, darling," she said. "I'm a widow. Or I will be. Tom's had some luck. Something about silver or something out in New Mexico. Anyhow, the Lord takes care of fools and drunkards. I'm no fool, but I'm drunk—with living. I'm glad Tom's tuning out for a while. He asks too many questions."

Tony forgot that her green coat had definitely decided to surrender to the inevitable. This was the moment. Glorious moment. Moment of truth, of courage without compromise.

"Lee," she began—she was free. The truth could free her. "I think you should know—I love Tom Stewart."

Tony's confession had much the effect on Lee's drooping regard for Tom that a vase of cold water has on a wilted rose. At once she was convinced she cared for Tom enormously. That he was necessary to her. That she must hold to him even at the cost of sacrificing her present easy mode of living and submitting herself to the frugal existence a marriage with him would entail.

Her reactions to Tony's hitherto carefully guarded secret were varied. Just at first she thought Tony was joking. Then it occurred to her that Tony was trying to help Tom's cause with her by inspiring jealousy, an ancient and feminine tonic in cases of waning love. One look at Tony's pale set face, defiant eyes, trembling lips, and Lee understood. Tony's passion for the truth had overtaken her again. Anger, resentment, distrust beat against Lee, spumed and roared like waves storm-tossed against jagged rocks. This is what came of putting your faith in a girl friend! That is what you got for liking a girl better than a sister. She'd sneak your man away from you! Ruin your life!

"So you tried to make Tom, did you, while I was at El Tango dancing my feet down to the ankle so I could pay my share of the room to Higgins!" Lee's eyes were dark with fury, narrowed, hating. "I must say you've got a nerve, telling me."

Tony recoiled at the injustice. She had not tried to "make" Tom Stewart. She had striven desperately to release herself from the spell of him, the nearness of him.

"I didn't. I fought against caring for him! Loving Tom Stewart was the last thing, the very last, I wanted to do."

The sincerity of protest, the clamor of pain raised by injustice of those dear to us was not lost on Lee. Her body relaxed. The fury went out of her face, replaced any calculating determination. She demanded:

"Does Tom know you're—that way—about him?"

"No—that is—of course he doesn't. How could he?"

What if Lee told Tom Stewart that she, Tony, loved him? What must he think of her? Brazen! Despicably weak. A traitor to friendship. He had given her no cause to make such a frank confession. Yes he had, too. His eyes covered her, smothered her, his hands were magnets that drew the very essence of her being to him.

"He'd be flattered I'm sure." Sarcasm stung. "Don't worry. I'm not going to tell him—put that feather in his cap. What makes you think you're keen on him? Have you been seeing each other, on the sly?" Suspicion, hate, were racing in again.

Tony shook her head. "I don't think you need to ask. You know I wouldn't."

"Then it's my bet, what you've told me is a lot of stewed prunes. You're ing up this way, without your perdarling, but you're not dumb. You should be hot about Tom Stewart, with Mister Donald Kemp giving you the big rush and the heavy sights!"

"Mr. Kemp is a friend. I could never care about him—that way."

"No? Well, you can't care for Tom either—that way. He happens to belong to me. I may marry him and go to South America after I get my money from Uncle Lenny's divorce. I may."

"South America! You mean Tom—"

"I mean Tom and me. He's liable to hit for there on a job later and he's taking me with him, if I want to go."

"Oh, Lee, what will I do without you?" Fear, the specter of loss, of utter loneliness shook Tony's voice. Lee was genuinely touched. She did like Tony. This stuff about Tom was just one of those fits Tony had when she got to thinking too much. Maybe it was the artist in Tony breaking out. Artists were queer birds.

"You'll do better than you expect if you take my advice and play up to Don Kemp." Lee took hold of Tony's shoulders, shook her affectionately. "He got plenty of it, and he's crazy about you. What more could a girl want, I ask you?"

"You're not angry with me?" timidly.

"We're still—pals?"

"Sure we're pals. Only keep away from Tom. It would be just too bad for anybody who tried to cut in on my sweetie and me." Lee laughed but the laugh crackled. She meant the threat to register.

Tony clasped Lee's hand. It was a compact. "I'm terribly late for class," she said, pulling her coat close around her slim body. "It's the first time."

"Yeah. There's always a first time."

The words followed Tony into the hall, rang in her ears when she was out in the street hurrying south toward the work that would help her forget, for a while, the painful events of the early evening. No so much Lee's words as the manner of their saying haunted her.

Always a first time!

'SALE' OF GIFT FLOUR IS HINTED BY BORAH

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(AP)—Charges that Memphis needy could not obtain flour made of farm board wheat unless they pledged votes to a "machine" headed by Representative Crump, were made public here today by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho.

Borah revealed the contents of letters to him from Memphis chapters of the Loyal Order of Americans, which asserted that the local Red Cross had turned the flour over to the "machine," and it was not given to the unemployed unless they agreed to vote for Crump candidates.

A prompt denial was forthcoming from Mayor Overton, of Memphis, who termed it "just some more of the rotten political propaganda being put out here," while Red Cross headquarters in Washington said the charges probably would be investigated.

"This flour," the mayor said, "is being distributed by the Red Cross and neither the city nor county governments have anything to do with it, directly or indirectly."

Speaking from Holly Springs, Miss., where he was visiting his aged mother, Crump expressed amazement at the charges and said he would return to Memphis to look into the records of his attackers and their reasons for the attack.

Charles O. Lee, executive secretary of the community fund and the one in general charge of the distribution, said the flour was distributed by recognized welfare agencies and that an investigation has been made as to need in each case. There has not been, he said, "the remotest" political connection with the work.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP)—Stocks dawdled today, responding so apathetically to professional operations in one or two groups that efforts toward a revival of the advance were abandoned. Closing prices represented almost a draw between minor advances and declines, with losses favored by a shade.

The tobaccos gave a bullish tinge to the market for a time. Reasons for tobaccos little flurry were not clear. Bonds about managed to hold their own in another dull session.

Some of yesterday's weak spots hardened, notably Du Pont. Utilities were firmer. People's Gas rallied moderately as it became known that refunding operations for the Insull group's forthcoming maturities were to be undertaken soon. American Telephone improved fractionally. Rails tried to be hopeful over the outcome of the executives' conference, but got little real inspiration therefrom. American Tobacco "B," Reynolds "B" and Liggett & Myers "B" held part of their extreme gains of around a point. United States Steel was steady, although the preferred lost 1 3-8 net. It was the dullest day since June 20, sales totaling 464,800 shares.

Brokers adhered to their recently expressed opinion that the market was being influenced almost solely by current business reports. Second-quarter earnings statements are on the whole so poor that Wall Street realizes prospects for favorable changes in the current period, given a continuance of present rates of industrial activity, are discouraging.

Investment bankers apparently are ready to give the bond market a rather thorough testing, since plans for marketing more new issues, in addition to the Insull financing, are understood to be under way.

Steel production, says American Metal Market, held last week's betterment but registered no further advance.

Foreign Markets

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

LONDON—In the absence of any stimulating influence the stock exchange was quieter. Profit-taking caused a general decline, especially in German bonds. Oil shares were also affected due to the disappointing Mexican Eagle Company report. The closing was dull.

PARIS—The advance on the bourse was checked by profit-taking but offers were easily absorbed. French rentes lost ground and oils were heavy on the lack of favorable reports from the oil conference in Paris. The market closed steady.

BERLIN—Trading was quiet on the boerse and prices steady. The close was slightly better.

BY VICTOR EUBANK.

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP)—The bond market was a dull and featureless affair today, although prices generally held to a steady and narrow range.

Sales totaled $8,796,000 par value, a slight decrease from yesterday's aggregate, the average for 60 selected issues recorded a net gain of one-tenth of a point.

The United States government list lost a large part of its following, for no apparent reason. Some of the treasuries even drifted into slightly lower territory. The recently bouyant 3s and 3 1-2s, however, absorbed the principal trading in the federal department and managed to emerge with moderate gains.

The utilities eased mildly, on the average, and the rails and industrials just about held their own.

Foreign obligations were unusually quiet.

Highlights of Wall Street

BY CHARLES W. STORM,
Editor, the News Service of Wall Street.

(Copyright, 1932, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

NEW YORK, July 19.—Indisposition on the part of the public to enter the stock market was further emphasized today by a marked falling off in the volume of dealings and a narrow range of price fluctuations that left some of the pivotal stocks showing fractional losses and others slight gains.

The fact that the market is showing resistance to unfavorable reports of earnings for the second quarter is encouraging. Stability of share prices is attributed to continued firmness of commodity prices, as well as the steadiness of the bond market and the ready sale of new offerings. It also is hoped that because of low inventories general business will show at least seasonal improvement in the fall.

Commodity prices continued firm with an advance of more than a cent a bushel in the price of wheat. The bond market displayed firmness with especial strength in railroad and public utility issues. Participation in the stock market continues at low ebb with marginal trading at a minimum. A good part of present purchases of stocks are for cash.

Until the market receives some new incentive general belief is that dealings will continue light with narrow price fluctuations. Professional speculation is dwindling owing to the absence of any stimulating influence.

BIG SCRAP PURCHASE.

In view of optimistic statements by several steel executives, some stress was placed on the report that the United States Steel Corporation had purchased between 25,000 and 50,000 tons of steel scrap.

This, considered a good sized order, was thought to presage signs of betterment in the steel business, but it developed that some of the railroad companies have been endeavoring to trade their scrap steel in return for finished steel.

The purchase by the steel corporation was said to have been made from the New York Central.

Prices for steel scrap are unusually low and because of this steel plants are using a greater percentage of scrap in relation to iron ore in blast furnaces.

The hopeful view of the purchase of steel scrap was somewhat depreciated by the statement made by Eugene G. Grace, of Bethlehem Steel, that operations of his company's plants are down to 12 per cent of capacity with no improvement immediately in sight.

Officials of the National Steel and the U. S. Steel, however, are reported to be taking a more cheerful view of the situation.

One encouraging development was found in reports from different parts of the country of increased employment. These statements, however, did not say whether the greater employment was due to spreading of the five-day week or to betterment in trade.

TARZAN THE UNTAMED No. 27

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The Reds' machine guns had bothered the Rhodesians and of them the Colonel was speaking. "Something silenced several today," said a young officer. "Once, when I was observing, I saw a great commotion in a trench sector but——I couldn't make out the cause. I think they were attacked from their rear, for they peppered at that bluff behind them. Wonder what it meant?" The tree bough rustled slightly and a lithe, brown body dropped among the astonished group.

Amazed, they regarded the man standing with the firelight playing upon his superb muscles. "Who the devil are YOU?" snapped the Colonel. "Tarzan of the Apes!" replied the newcomer. "Otherwise Lord Greystoke!" cried a major, extending his hand.

"How are you, Major Preswick?" acknowledged Tarzan. "Didn't recognize you at first," laughed the major. "Saw you last in London, in evening dress. SOME difference, you'll admit!" Tarzan half smiled and turned toward the Colonel.

JAMES STAHLMAN HEADS PUBLISHERS

Major Clark Howell Jr. Is Named Chairman of the Board.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 19.—(AP) James G. Stahlman, editor and publisher of the Nashville (Tenn.) Banner, was elected president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association, in annual convention here today.

Stahlman succeeds Clark Howell Jr., business manager of The Atlanta Constitution, who was named chairman of the board.

Walter C. Johnson, business manager of the Chattanooga News, was re-elected treasurer and the nominating committee recommended the re-election of Cranston Williams, of Chattanooga, as secretary-manager. This must be confirmed by the board of directors.

Directors by states were elected as follows:

Alabama—James E. Chappell, Birmingham News and Age-Herald.

Arkansas—J. A. Engel, Little Rock Democrat.

Florida—G. V. Harper, Miami, Herald.

Georgia—H. V. Jenkins, Savannah News and Press.

Kentucky—Emmanuel Levi, Louisville Courier-Journal and Times.

Louisiana—L. K. Nicholson, New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Mississippi—J. H. Skewes, Meridian Star.

North Carolina—J. L. Horne Jr., Rocky Mount Telegram.

Oklahoma—E. K. Gaylord, Oklahoma City Oklahoman and Times.

South Carolina—Roger C. Peace, Greenville News and Piedmont.

Tennessee—Adolph Shelby Ochs, Chattanooga Times.

Texas—J. L. Mapes, Beaumont Enterprise and Journal.

Virginia—Powell Glass, Lynchburg News and Advance.

West Virginia—J. H. Long, Huntington Advertiser and Herald Dispatch.

The nominating committee reported through W. A. Elliott, of the Jacksonville Times-Union. Mr. Stahlman was escorted to the chair by Mr. Ochs and Don S. Elias, of the Asheville Citizen and Times.

To Adjourn Today.

The convention will adjourn tomorrow.

The Lee School of Journalism educates its students for journalism rather than in journalism, said the report made to the association here to the committee of which Senator John S. Cohen, of Georgia, is chairman.

Senator Cohen is president and editor of the Atlanta (Ga.) Journal.

The Lee School of Journalism is sponsored by the organization and is a part of Washington and Lee University. Its director, William L. Mapel, said that Washington and Lee definitely is committed to the idea "that the graduation of a large number of only average young persons means a mediocre rating for any school of journalism and eventual suicide for the idea that college trained men and women make the best newspaper workers."

Reporting the end of the first experimental year of a new plan, Mr. Mapel said the university leaned toward a program concerned primarily with a solid foundation course and secondarily with journalistic technique.

Solid Background.

"We elected to give our students at Washington and Lee a solid background. We forced ourselves into the position where at graduation we must say to you, of a young man:

"'Here is one of our graduates. He's not a finished newspaperman, but it won't take long to make one of him. He knows some technical journalism, but not much more than enough to get him started. He'll have to be taught many tricks of the trade. We haven't had time to teach all of them to him. Instead we've been busy helping him to get a background of history, science, economics, government and politics, theologies, language and literature.

"'This young man will write a passable news story. It will be accurate, honest and to the point. We've taught him that much. . . .

"'You'll find him eager to please and just as eager to advance. . . . The fact that we've graduated him means that we feel certain that he is cut out for journalism. We've told him it's in him to be successful, but we've eternally pounded into his head that for the first six months he's going to be the beginningest kind of a beginner.

Higher Intelligence.

"'That's the way you'll get him, but pretty soon you'll learn that he can do more than just hack reporting. In other words, you'll find a good young man who will learn rapidly because he's been taught the value of learning and because he's of more than average intelligence.

"'That's what you want, isn't it? It represents training the average man doesn't get, and it carries out the Washington and Lee feeling that there's no room in journalism for the average man.'"

Mr. Mapel explained that of the 126 semester hours required at Washington and Lee, 99 must be taken in the background field. The remaining 27 are taken up with journalistic work.

"Some of our graduates undoubtedly will find their way to newspapers owned or edited by members of our organization," Mr. Mapel's report concluded. "We are rather proud of the fact that the Lee School of Journalism graduates now are making good in every state represented in the S. N. P. A."

HOMER C. PARKER ASKS RE-ELECTION ON RECORD

Congressman To Study Charges of Foes Before Laying Campaign Plans.

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 19.—(AP)—"I have just completed for the time being my job working for others; now I am back in my district and I expect to do a little work for myself," explained Congressman Homer C. Parker Tuesday morning when asked about his campaign plans.

"I have not heard, nor have I paid any particular attention to what my opponents have said about me, therefore until I acquaint myself with what has been said and done, I will be unable to answer anything of a controversial nature.

"I do not anticipate having much difficulty being re-elected. My record is open for inspection and I stand ready to be judged by it."

"As to my stand on prohibition," Mr. Parker said when informed that Hugh Peterson Jr., an opponent, had declared himself Monday for an immediate resubmission, "I reiterate that I stand with the democratic party and its platform, especially the plank concerning the dry law, one hundred per cent."

Questioned about the federal relief bill which was to be signed by President Hoover Tuesday, Mr. Parker said:

"It's nothing but class legislation—and I voted against it. Every item which could have done the individual some good was stricken from the measure. We cut off three-quarters of a billion dollars expenses in federal operation, but what good is that? We are to appropriate it to the classes."

150 CAROLINA MILLS CLOSE; 15,000 STRIKE

HIGH POINT, N. C., July 19.—(AP) Approximately 15,000 persons were thrown out of work tonight in five North Carolina manufacturing centers after groups of strikers and unemployed toured about, cutting off electric power and either forcing or persuading workers to leave their posts.

Nearly 150 mills were closed in High Point, Jamestown, Kernersville, Lexington and Thomasville.

There was practically no violence, but in several communities, the roving bands met resistance which was short lived. Several persons received minor injuries.

In High Point approximately 6,000 workers left their posts in practically every manufacturing plant in the area. It was estimated that 100 major plants were closed during the day, in addition to a number of smaller ones.

By early afternoon every manufacturing plant in Thomasville, six miles from High Point, was closed and the invading groups were spreading their forces into Kernesville, Lexington and Jamestown, where other mills were shut down in rapid order.

All plants at High Point were picketed but the situation remained quiet.

Police Chief W. J. Friddle, of High Point, visited various manufacturing sections throughout the day and reported there were no disorders.

Meanwhile, Adjutant General J. Van B. Metts, commander of the North Carolina national guard, was ordered here by Governor Gardner to survey the situation.

GRANDI MAY BECOME AMBASSADOR TO U. S.

ROME, July 19.—(UP)—Changes in the cabinet of Premier Benito Mussolini, probably including retirement of Foreign Minister Dina Grandi, were forecast tonight in well-informed sources.

Grandi is expected to be appointed to an ambassadorial post. He has frequently been mentioned as the next envoy to the United States when Ambassador De Martino's term there is ended.

It was believed the cabinet changes would be made soon, although there was no official confirmation of impending changes.

The general conclusion, however, was that Grandi was ready to leave the foreign office at any time. The chief consideration is whether the premier considers Grandi's work in that position completed.

Wine-Bibber Drowns In Beloved Beverage

PERCY, Ill., July 18.—(UP)—Herman Ruchkorff liked wine so well he ended by drowning himself in it, according to the story told by his widow today to a coroner's jury.

Mrs. Ruchmorff said her husband became drunk on wine, then went into the basement of their farm home with a jugful. He stumbled and fell, she said, struck his head and apparently was knocked unconscious with his face in a depression on the floor.

The fall, she testified, caused the wine jug to break. The wine filled the depression in the floor and Ruchkorff took so much of it into his lungs that he "drowned."

HARMONY PLEA MADE BY STANLEY BALDWIN

OTTAWA, Ontario, July 19.—(UP)—A plea for a British empire conference above parties and personalities was made today by Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council in the British government, in a conference with newspapermen from all parts of the empire, the United States, France and other countries.

Baldwin and J. H. Thomas, secretary for the dominions, leading figures in the British delegation to the empire conference here, received the newspapermen.

"This conference ought to be above all parties and all personalities because of the enormous importance success would be," Baldwin said. "And I dread to think what failure would mean—and dread to think beyond that, to think how failure of people who speak the same language would appear in foreign countries. It is for Canada's prime minister to give the lead."

An indication of success for the economic conference, possibly the most important of the kind ever held, was seen in conclusion of an agreement between the Canadian and British steel industries for a division of the Canadian market. This agreement goes before the conference for approval, and, if carried out, will mean a loss of trade for United States steel companies from which Canada now buys most of its steel imports.

The conference opens Thursday.

Woman Says Slaying Was in Self-Defense

CHESTER, S. C., July 19.—(AP)—The woman slayer of a rural police officer, Mrs. Beatrice Ferguson Snipes, sat in her jail cell here today and said, "I never had nothing like that in my heart . . . to kill anybody."

Mrs. Snipes, 35-year-old resident of Columbia, contended she shot to death Elliott Harris, York county policeman, Sunday, in self-defense. Harris had attempted to arrest her husband on a charge of reckless driving.

"I'm not a bad girl. I hope the public will not be too hard on me," said the woman charged with the officer's murder.

Meanwhile her husband, Clyde Snipes, was in jail at York, held as an accessory before the fact of the killing, and on a charge of grand larceny. He was captured last night near the North Carolina line.

NEWTON, Ga., July 19.—(AP)—Mrs. O. C.
